Essence is what makes us, us. It is our true substance. Some call it identity, spirit, or soul. It is what we are here and now. And it is captured within these pages in print and photographs for all who come after us.

OPRFHS is a place where students can relax and socialize, as well as study. The building provides a variety of environments such as the library, student center, and outdoor mall.

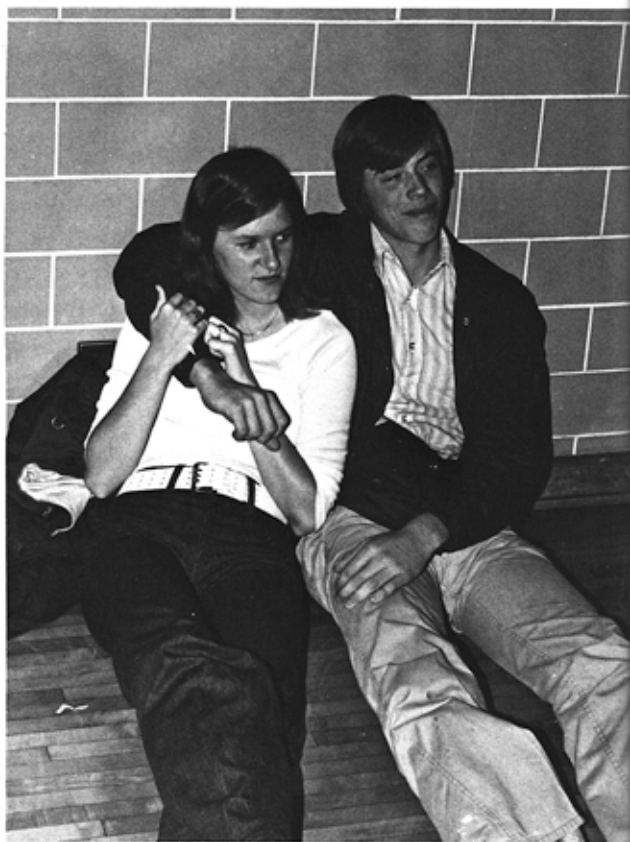

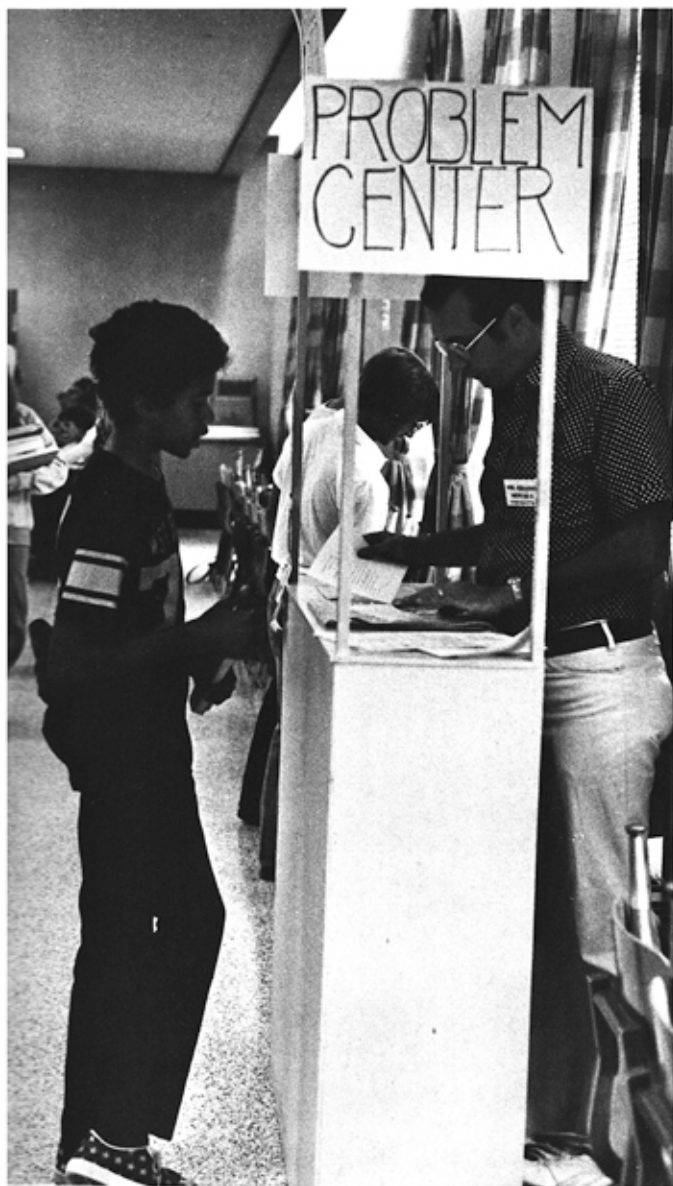

© Copyright 1977 Gregory Drazdson

OPRFHS is spirit. A spirit which is evident not only in athletic endeavors, but also in every school sponsored activity from Freshman Fun Night to Senior Munchies.

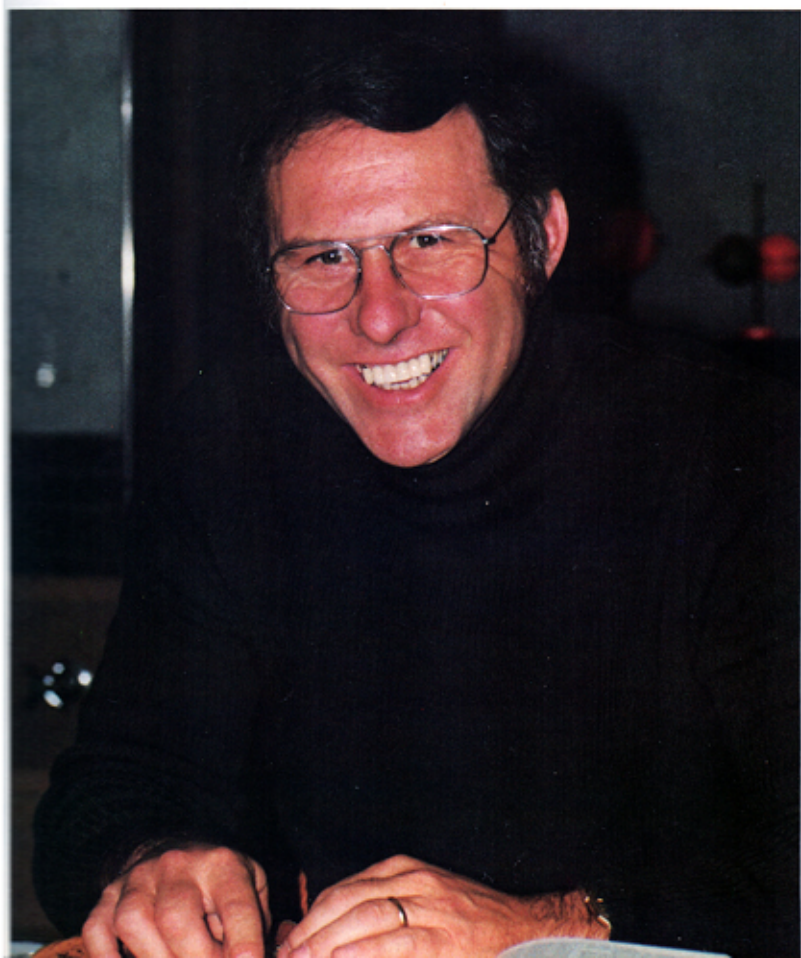

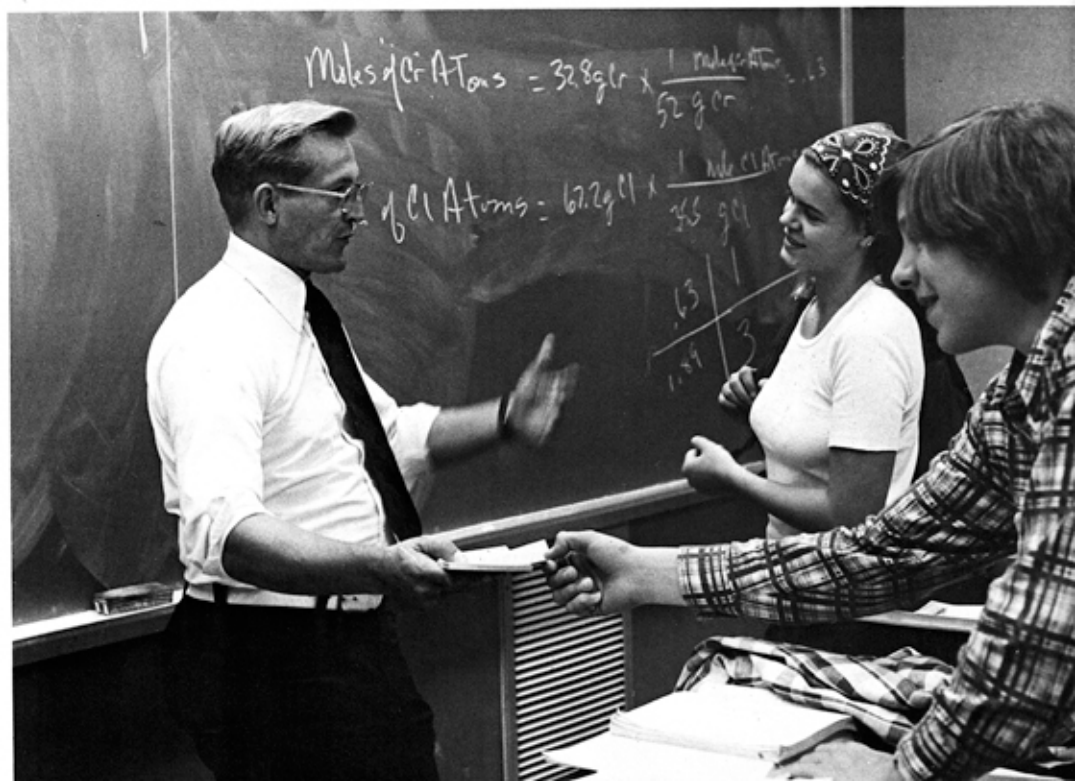

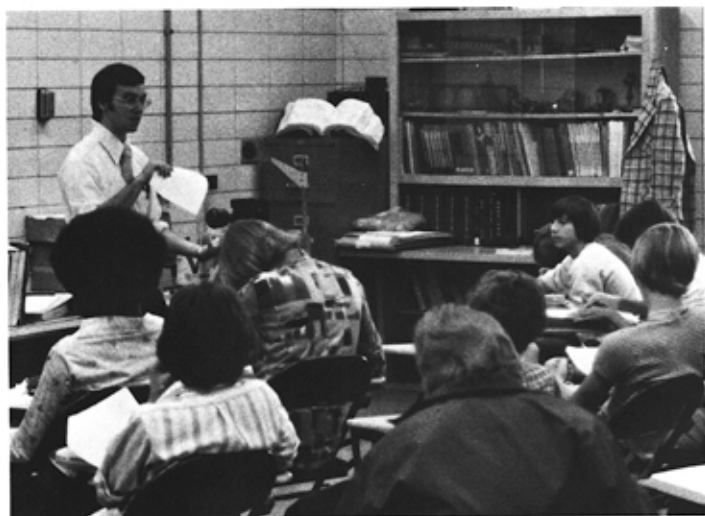

OPRFHS is people. The people here care about one another and care about the needs of the student; secretaries, custodial and cafeteria staff, librarians, deans, administrators, and most important, teachers, strive to create a comfortable learning atmosphere.

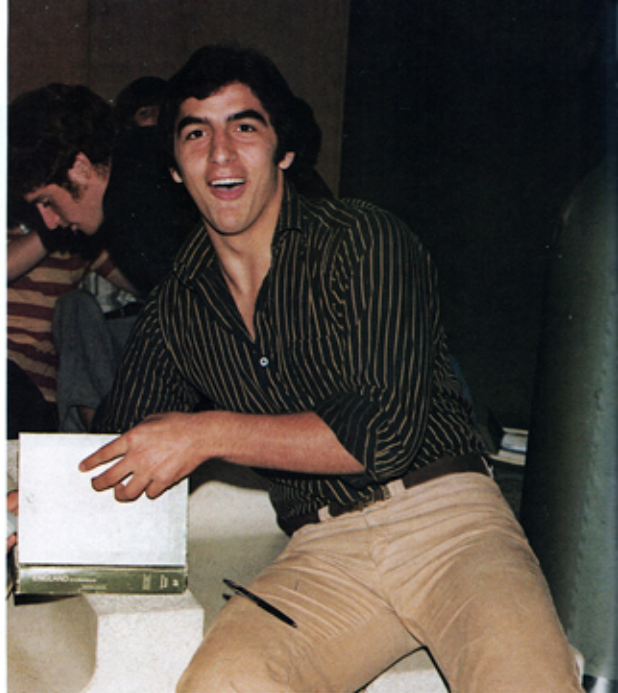

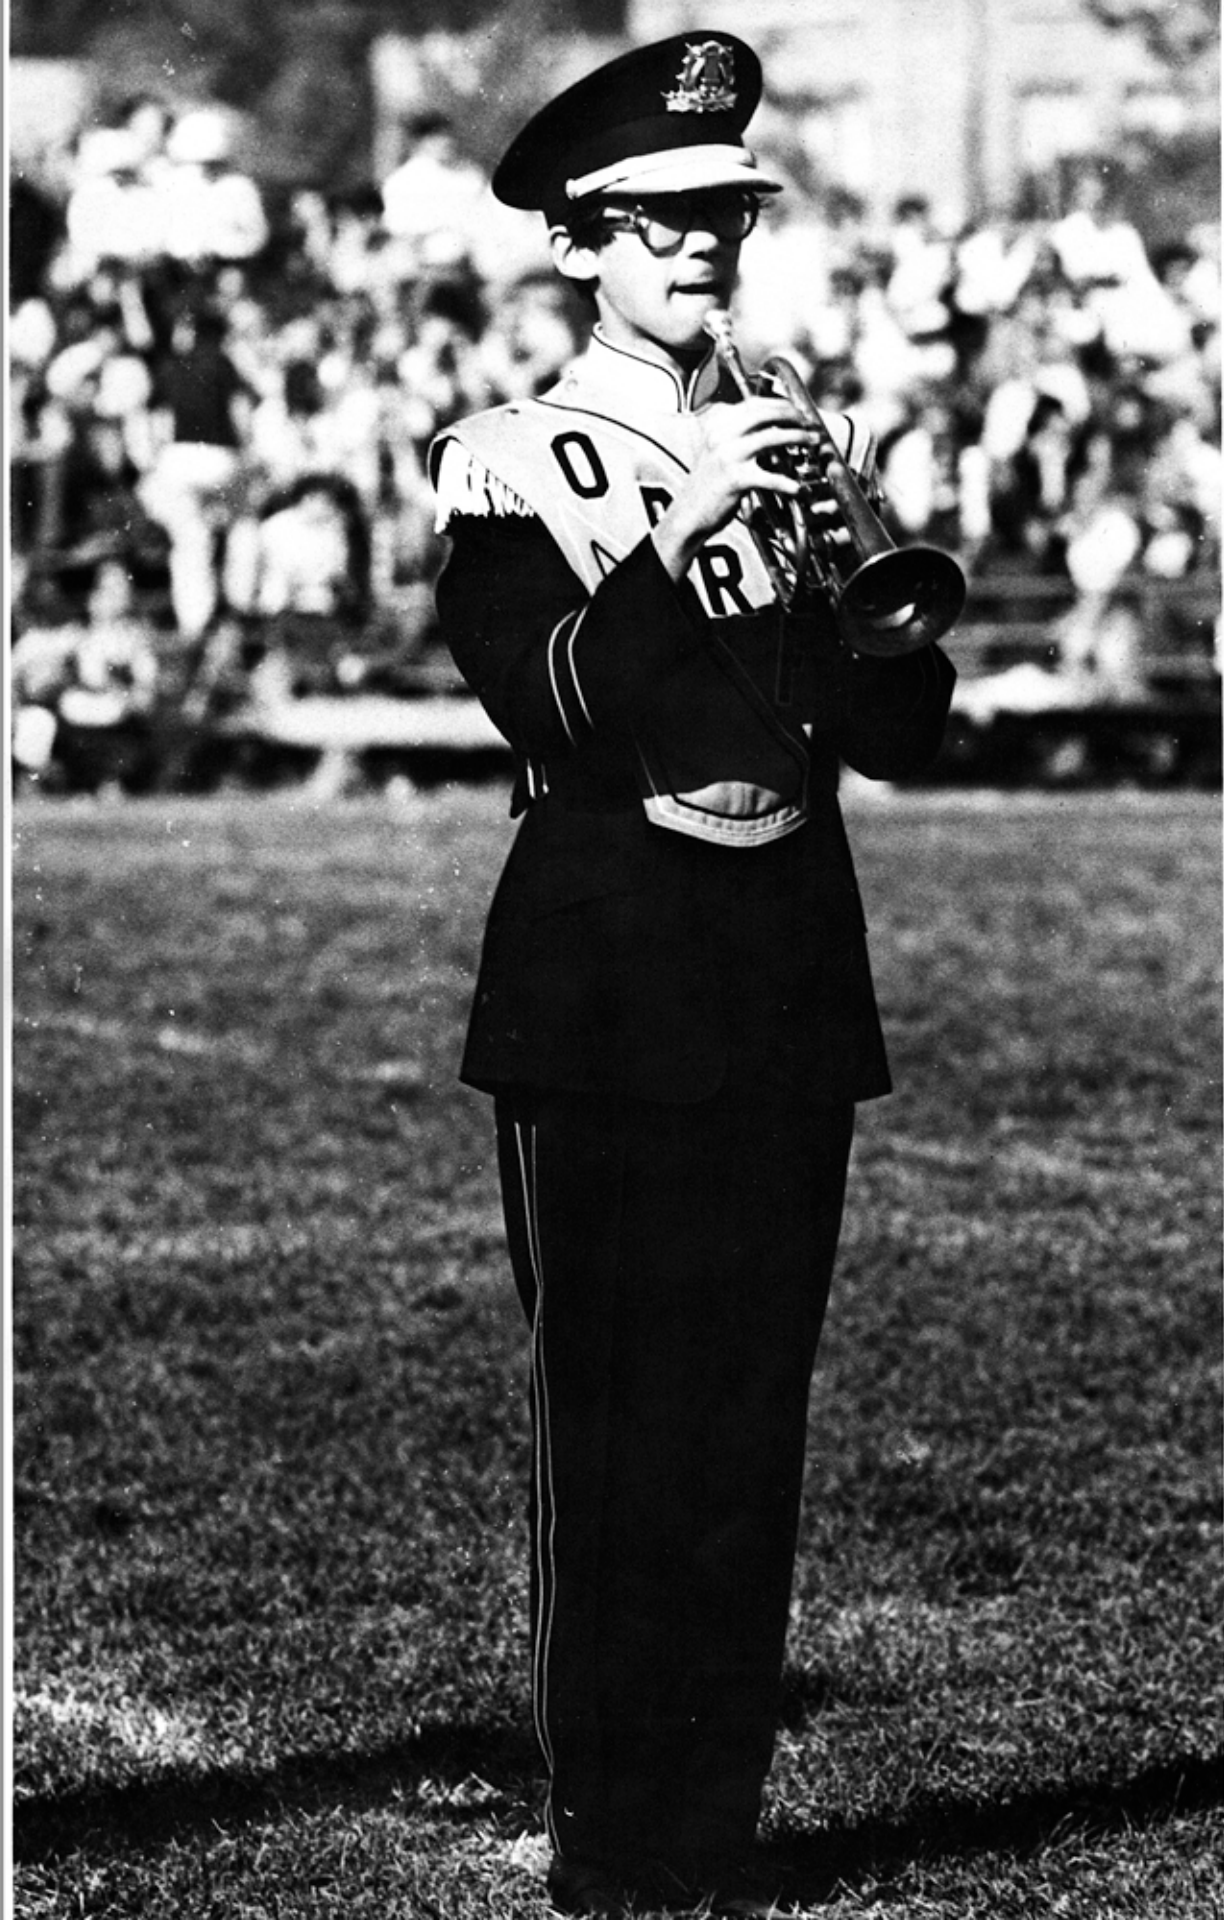

But even with all these ingredients OPRFHS would not be what it is without the student. The freshmen have worries, cares, and experiences they have never before confronted. The sophomores are a little wiser but still somewhat foolish in their ways. The juniors learn to handle bigger responsibilities such as option period and college interviews. Finally the seniors must show leadership and maturity to the underclassmen.

All these things blend to create the essence of OPRFHS.

DOER

The Doer can be found discussing students needs in the council offices, performing in a musical production or play, or socializing at one of the dances, producing student publications, participating in clubs. The Doer brings the school alive.

Orange & Blue Colors Spirit Week

Homecoming-October 16-a parade, a football game, and a dance. Right?

Wrong.

Homecoming started as a gleam in the eyes of Oak Park students from the very beginning of school. And it ended in a blinding flash of orange and blue posters, pom pons, and football players during Spirit Week — those traditionally wild five days before Saturday, THE DAY.

Spirit Week — this was the inspiration for 1976 fall activity and perhaps the greatest show of enthusiasm all year. But that should not come as a surprise, for any student could, and many did, participate in the preparations. On Monday, Columbus Day, artists partial to orange and blue paint and paper were set loose in the halls to send their messages — "Go For It Huskies," and "Trample the Trojans."

Next, Oak Park was introduced to her real spirit leaders—that is, at least to their legs. During the lunch periods, students voted in the sexiest legs competition for senior cheerleaders, pom pon girls and cross country runners. Nancy Way and Brian Gallagher were the winners. Then, Mike O'Malley was named the cutest baby of the senior football players.

Finally, on Friday, spirit reached its peak. Masses filled the Student Center to hear Stew Goldman's pep talk and meet the football team. The pep rally worked. Students got rowdy, and teachers gave up trying to teach for the day. After all, there were less than 24 hours until ...

The Day — Huskies Beat Trojans

October 16 — sunny, cold. Real football weather. The day had finally come. A busy one for everyone concerned.

For devoted Student Councilors, the day began early. At 6:30 a.m. sleepy students dragged themselves, yawning and blinking, onto the field to decorate for the game.

Soon after the sun rose, the freshman football team set the pace for the day's victories. At the same time, the Homecoming parade began its journey through the village, spreading throughout Oak Park the spirit which had been forming for the past week. Girl's swim team, the Art department, and A Cappella Choir were among the ten floats which participated. In the final judging, the Sophomore class entry of Trample the Trojans took first place.

As the parade came to the end of its route in the stadium, it found bleachers packed with students, parents, and villagers. The students showed their strength by passing surprised victims up and down the grandstands.

Finally the game began. The Downers Grove players took the field to cries of "Who's he" from our side. Then, the Huskies joined the visitors — and beat them. However, it was not an easy win. In the fourth quarter the Huskies were ahead, until Downers Grove scored. Then the score was 14-13. The crowd grew restless as they awaited the extra point attempt. They missed.

Happy Oak Park fans emptied the bleachers and returned home. There was a lot to do to get ready for ... THE NIGHT.

The Night

That night, the football fans from the bleachers made an amazing transformation. Painter's pants, jeans, and sweaters were replaced by long dresses and three-piece suits. The students rarely looked so classy.

This, of course, was the 1976 Homecoming dance. Couples presented their bids, checked their coats, and entered the Student Center. Here, bigger than life caricatures of the varsity football team, water polo team, and cross country runners decorated the walls. In the cafeteria, tables were available when students tired of dancing to "The Sounds of Now."

At ten o'clock, the climax of the dance came with the introduction of the court. As Chris Peregrine announced each couple, they came down the stairs and awaited the announcement of the queen — Jane Gregg. Afterward, the dance continued until 11:30.

Homecoming 1976, however, was not like all of the previous years. That night, problems arose that were talked about for weeks after. While couples were dancing inside the school, other students were fighting outside. The aftermath of these situations was conflict. Faculty and administrators were disillusioned by students' behavior.

Although Homecoming, for many, was a good experience, it had a truly controversial ending.

Seniors Help Freshmen Adjust

Approximately one hundred upper classmen became Big Brothers and Big Sisters this year through the selection of their deans. These seniors visited their freshman "A" periods twice a week. Their goal was to make it easier for the frosh to adjust and get a good start in a brand new school. The Big Brothers Program gave advice to the frosh that was not always covered through conferences with deans or teachers.

A Big Sister, Therese Compton said, "The Big Brother-Big Sister Program can be rewarding if both the seniors and freshman give and take."

According to Mr. Gail Goodwin, sponsor of both the Freshman Class and Big Brother Big Sister program, "The seniors help the freshman to stay away from the pitfalls that get so many students."

Freshmen Unite For Fun

Freshmen found Fun Night worth going to for $1.50. The night of September 24 brought the new students together. Freshmen Fun Night was the first gathering for the Freshmen; and with the help of the big brothers and big sisters, it resulted as a success. "It was the best Freshmen Fun Night we ever had," said Mr. Gail Goodwin, sponsor of the freshmen class.

Several fun events entertained the freshmen who attended. They splashed and swam in the boys' pool. Freshmen formed teams to play basketball in the boys' north gym and volleyball in the new girls' gym. And if they just wanted to relax, students watched cartoons in the Little Theatre. To quench their thirsts, punch was offered in the South Cafeteria.

The event that gathered the most students was dancing in the Student Center. Fun Night's unity was reflected in freshman Ann Muriello's comment, "I danced the whole time and I met a lot of kids I did not know before."

Mad Hatter Comes To Lunch

After much planning, Match Mate Munch took place in the transformed south cafeteria. Alice in Wonderland provided a theme for the lunch. "Munch with the Madhatter" served to acquaint the Freshmen with the High School. The afternoon included food, entertainment, a cheer from the cheerleaders, and a few welcoming words from the administration, the president of Student Council, Mike Glasser, and Maureen Grimes, the president of Tau Gamma.

The Freshmen arrived with their match-mates soon after the doors were opened and entered the decorated cafeteria. Character sketches draped the walls, the suits of cards adorned the posts, and an array of colorful Alice characters hung behind the head table.

After Dr. Swanson, Dr. Botthof, and Mr. Jensen welcomed the group, the entertainment skit began. People moved from their various tables and surrounded the stage. Alice, at the opening of the skit, found herself lost and bewildered by her new environment, Oak Park High. Helpers, like the White Rabbit, introduced her to many of the activities at the school. Four girls parodied a Pom Pom routine, complete with faulty recording, as part of the skit. Finally, the new chairmen were announced before the group proceeded, full of school spirit, to the football game.

After only four weeks to put together OP's first musical production, "Dames at Sea," it was staged in the Little Theatre on October 22, 23, 29, and 30th. The play was unknown to most of its watchers. That was one of the reasons that Mr. Harold Radford, director of the play, picked it. Radford said another reason he picked it was, "I liked it for its freshness, nostalgia . . . the whole show had a certain appeal for any age group." The story occurs during the 1930's in Hollywood, the dream capital of the United States. The six main characters Mona (Carrie Weber), Joan (Alice Botthof), Hennesey (Scott Roman), Ruby (Joy Guscott), Dick (Eric Jonhson) and Lucky (Tom Murphy), sang and danced to many take-offs of 1930's songs.

Although the chorus wasn't in the original play, it was writted in for its performance at OPRF. The play offered only only six main roles, so Radford decided to add the chorus in order to give more students the chance to be in the fall play. A lot of interest was shown at the try-outs in September. Sixty to seventy students tried out for a role in the play.

The students who starred in the play worked very hard to be ready on opening night. Radford praised his cast highly, "Best cast I ever worked with. No one was for herself or himself." The dances were choreographed by Mrs. Beverly Wehrli who also praised the students she worked with. "They were easy to direct and very cordial to one another." The audience seemed to enjoy the take-offs on well known songs. Radford said, "They responded the way I hoped they would."

Stage and Prop Crews Support Behind the Scenes

Stage Crew and Prop Crew act as the backbone of many of Oak Park's productions. They support the productions but are not seen at work.

"The kids on Stage Crew never see the sun," said Mr. Mike Nielsen, the head of Stage Crew. This year there were 37 students who worked full time on preparation and performance of 196 productions, including the Oak Park Opera and The Civic Symphony. Stage Crew wasn't seen at the movies, but they brought them to you, the viewers. They also help prepare the setting and lighting for Homecoming, King of Hearts, and Junior Prom.

Stage Crew begins preparation for major productions approximately two to three weeks before the performance. The students work before school, during free periods, and after school. This year the greatest expense was lumber which cost $10,000. The money for this, and other materials, comes from ticket sales. Everyone on Stage Crew uses standard professional techniques when they build stage sets. The expertise that Stage Crew members develop often helps them when they go on to technical theatre in college.

While Stage Crew builds sets, Prop Crew gathers props for the many school performances. Some props were gathered by members from their homes, some were bought, some were rented, and some were made by hand. In addition, Prop Crew is in charge of getting the props on and off the stage at the correct times during the performances and rehearsals. The people on crew work "quite a lot of time," said Mr. Glenn Gabanski, sponsor. Gabanski began Prop Crew three years ago and says, "It's open to anyone."

Dances Successful Because of Large Turnouts

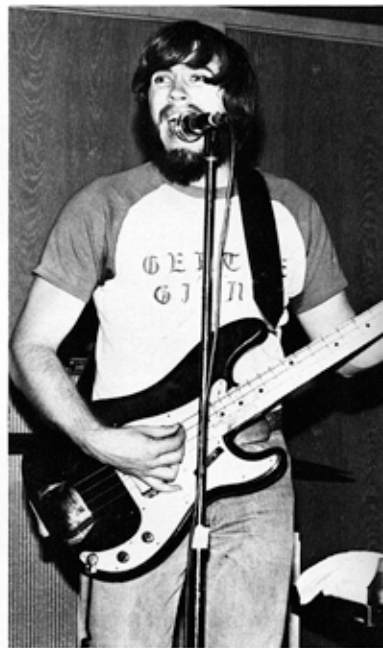

Students found themselves doing the Hustle, Bump, Bunny Hop and dancing in circles to all the varies groups. Sgt. Pepper Band provided the students with many well known songs like, "A Hard Days Night, Help!, Eight Days a Week." Bands like Just Friends and Synod played a mixture of songs from Beach Boys and Chicago.

Most of the dances this year were profitable. The Cheerleader's Dance was sucessful. Most of the 700 attending students thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The turnout, according to Miss Marie Jezik, was the best in three years.

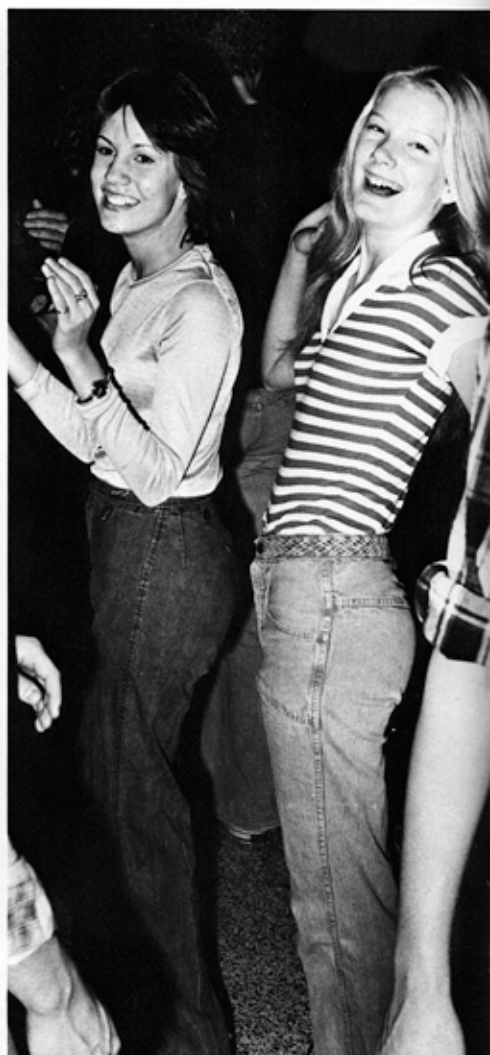

Though the Huskies lost the soccer game held at the Ridgeland Commons, this did not dampen any spirit as there was a surprisingly good turnout for the Soccer Dance.

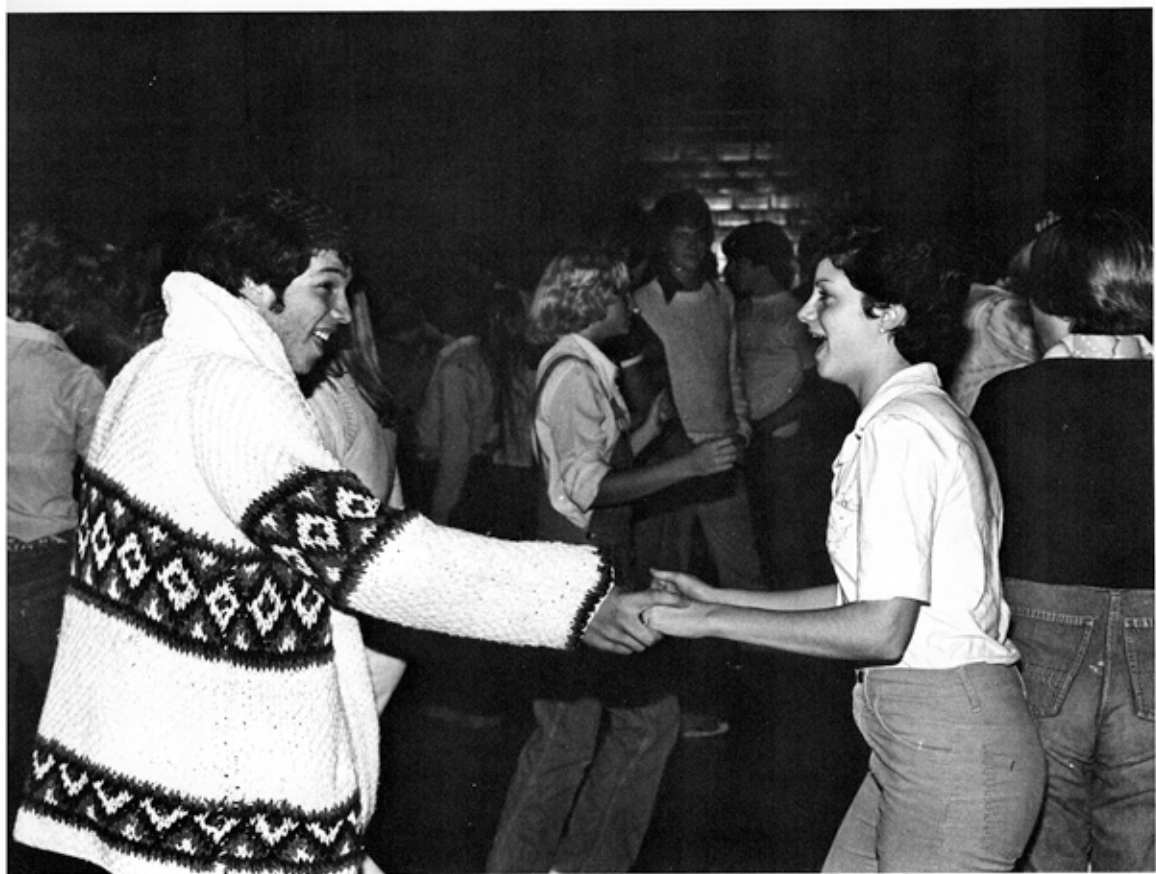

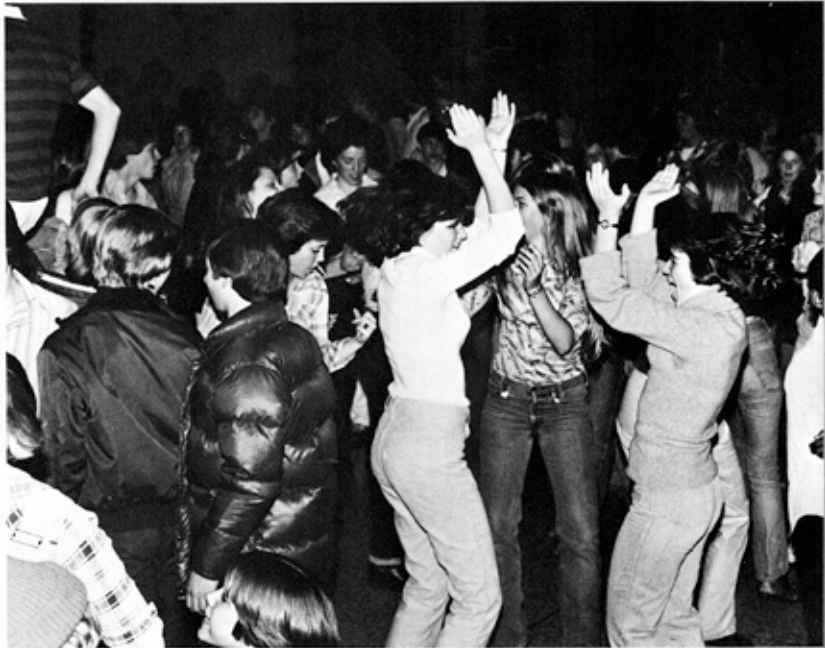

Turkey Trot was sponsored by the Tau Gamma. It had a turnout of 425 students and its proceeds went toward the decorations for the King of Hearts Dance. The students enjoyed the band Synod, but did not begin dancing till late in the evening.

Overall the dances were sucessful and the administration was pleased with the actions of the students.

The preamble of Student Council summarizes the essence of Student Council. It states "... to provide an outlet for the expression of student opinion, to insure a contact between students and administration in the formulation and upholding of school policies, to promote student moral, school spirit, and the general welfare of the student body and in general to provide the nucleus for student related organizations and activities ... "

In trying to uphold this preamble Student Council offers many activities for OP's students to participate and help in. Student Council members help the administration in the opening and closing of the school. Student participation is noticeable in the Homecoming events. They sponsor the dance and all the festivities leading up to Homecoming Day. Another program which receives student participation is Work Day. Student Council works with Community Chest in order to have student wages from one day be donated to the Community Chest. Student Council also helps the Community Chest with the Red Feather Dance. Conference '77 is another program which Student Council sponsors. The annual Ping Pong tournament happened during the second week of February. Students could play as singles or doubles in the tournament. One way that Student Council tries to close the communication gap between OP's students and themselves is in Open Forum. Students tell Council members their school related problems in hope that the members can solve their problems. Library and cafeteria problems were solved this year.

One goal for next year according to Dr. Jerry Anderson is, "to improve our communications between ourselves and fellow students." Student Council next year, hopes to assign a member to so many "A Periods" to explain various school activities.

In order to be able to run for Student Council, students must get a petition of 20 names and their Dean's approval. A student can also get on council by the Interview Process. A board of Student Council members interviews students and then selects students that they think will serve Student Council the best.

Student Council helps communication between the students and the School Board. Through their various organizations Student Council helps break the barrier.

Conference '77

After a 1976 theme of "Has Progress been Progress," Conference '77 dealt with "American Justice-Is it working for you?" Brian Murphy of Fenwick, Ella Jirka of Trinity, and Irene Sang of OPRF collaborated to organize the 60th Annual Conference, held at Fenwick High School. State's Atty. for Cook County, Bernard Carey and Anthony and Helena Kerner, children of the late Governor Otto Kerner, spoke to the mixed group of high school students in the Auditorium. Mr. Carey and the Kerners related aspects of the legal process as they described the system from opposite standpoints. Carey defended the prosecutor's position in the courtroom, while the Kerners condemned the exploits of district attorneys in courtrooms.

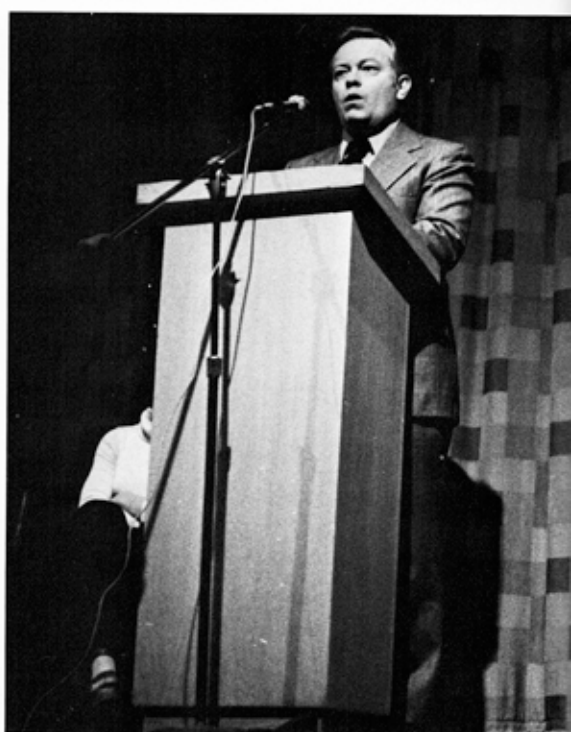

Following the speeches, the group divided into smaller discussion groups ranging in topics from "Drug Programs" to "Evaluating Justice." Then, all of the students returned to the Auditorium to view a film concerning children trapped by the Juvenile Court System today. The film, entitled "Children in Trouble," toured present day accommodations for children who are wards of the State. Finally, the successful afternoon closed with a hot dinner served in the school's cafeteria.

Best Year Ever for Councils

With the most blood ever collected in Chicago area high schools by the Senior Class Council blood drive and the most money ever collected at a Junior Class Carnival, councils had a successful year.

As head of the student body, Senior Class Council, led by Gregg Oltman, and under the sponsorship of Mr. Richard Deptuch, made their last year in high school a good one. In the fall, their float for Homecoming won second place and Senior Class Council sponsored a successful informal dance. Because the senior dance went well, it determined that future dances would be held despite the problems at previous dances. Senior Class Council also held a gym night for junior high students.

To support the Oak Park Community, Council held its annual blood drive February 15, 16, and 17. Before the drive Oltman said, "We are trying to get more blood than last year." When the drive was over the Senior Class collected 360 pints of blood, making it the most successful high school blood drive ever held in the Chicago area. In the spring, Senior Munchies brought all interested seniors together for the last time. Funny awards and skits were presented to reveal special characteristics shown by seniors during their years at Oak Park-River Forest High School.

Junior Class Council had another busy and important year. Building the Homecoming float was Junior Class Council's first project. Junior Class members ground up a Trojan horse symbolizing rival Downers Grove North in a garbage truck adding satisfaction to the home crowd's spirit.

After three months of planning the annual Junior Carnival was held on February 12. Elementary school children in Oak Park and River Forest attended, playing games at 12 booths and taking chances on the several raffle prizes that were drawn. The day concluded with a dance for high school students, bringing a profit of over $1000 for the Junior Class treasury. The gross collection of $1850 was the highest amount any Junior Class Carnival ever made.

The year climaxed with the long-awaited Junior Prom. June 4 brought juniors and seniors together for the end of the year formal dance. Secretary Laura Shaffer commented on participation: "We have had a very successful year due to our good attendance and organization."

Soph-Frosh Have Successful Year

Enthusiasm and participation led to fun and profitable experiences for the freshman and sophomore class councils this year. The meetings were well attended and all members pitched in with new ideas for activities.

Class council is an organization designed to involve each student and his A-period in school activities. All class members are invited to attend the meetings held before school. Here they plan activities that range from fund raising schemes, charitable efforts, and outings for simple fun.

The freshmen concentrated mainly on money making projects. They organized bake sales at the home basketball games and held the annual car wash on prom day. They sold class T-shirts and OPRF pennants, a new idea.

The sophomores had a busy year. Besides the baked goods, they sold suckers at the basketball bake sales. They sold T-shirts and the pins of previous years.

The sophomores reached out and helped others. One of the most successful projects undertaken was a Christmas toy drive for the children of the Hephzibah Home.

After working hard on these projects, the sophomores spent a day in the cold, tobogganing. When asked the purpose they replied, "Fun!"

King of Hearts: Wind, Wave, and Star

Wind, Wave and Star was the name of this year's annual King of Hearts Dance held Saturday, March 12. The dance, usually near Valentine's Day, was put back to a later date. According to sponsor Miss Vana, "There were just no open dates on the calendar." Also February Basketball games conflicted with the Saturday night dance.

Approximately five hundred couples turned out to enjoy the dance set on a Pacific Island. Colorful murals with tropical birds and palm trees decorated the Student Center, while Unity played enjoyable music.

Diane Hamity and Debbie Krautstunk were General Chairpersons and in charge of decorations. Persons in charge of other parts of the dance were, Sandy Rose and Meg Cavanaugh, Bids; Patti Golden and Pam Klein, Joanne Weidow and Leslie Thomas, Publicity; Mimi Soudan, Jackie Gullo and Meg Doody, Entrance; Barb Ciccio and Anne Bax, Invitations; Maureen Grimes, Throne; Stephine Brown, Anne Corlett and Sue Eckenroad, Food; Regina Picone, Terry Cummings, Margaret Powers and Kathy Klein, Cafeteria.

“Mama” Brings Back Fond Memories

On the nights of December 3, 4, 10, 11 the lights dimmed in the Little Theater. Suddenly there was magic and the room filled with memories. “I Remember Mama” had begun. The audience received it enthusiastically but without any realization of the many hours of work behind it.

“I Remember Mama” was a difficult play to produce at the high school level, according to cast members. There were many scene changes, props, and performers. A definite mood had to be set in the varied scenes which called for excellent acting skill.

Because of the large cast, it was difficult, at first, to become organized. Too many people were trying to work in the small space available. But as time went on, everyone learned to cooperate and the work got done. It took a strong director, a motivated cast, and a lot of perseverance to pull it together, according to Erin Roach.

The cast had to deal with many types of characters and scenes. Some of the play was humorous and some was quite serious. Each performer tried to get a feeling for his part, even down to the Norwegian accents.

The director and cast were not the only ones who had to overcome many obstacles. The play was difficult from the point of view of the stage crew and properties committees. The play contained twenty-five scene changes. Each was challenging to build and had to be easily and quickly moved during the performance.

The necessary props were many and varied. Most could be found in the crowded prop storage room. One unique “prop” was the live cat used in several scenes. According to properties supervisor, Mr. Glenn Gabanski, “The cat was great! There were a hundred people moving around backstage and he slept through it all. He caused no problems.”

The lighting presented another problem. The way in which the set had been constructed prevented the lighting crew from seeing the stage during the play. Light cues had to be taken vocally. It took a lot of practice to master the technique.

So, after much work, the opening night came. With fear and trembling, everyone involved took a deep breath and tried their hardest. Then the magic happened. The audience loved it. In the minds of those older people were fond memories of their childhoods. In the minds of those who had worked so faithfully to make this play a success are happy memories not soon to be forgotten.

Movies Attract Thousands

Students stay after school to view current films at Cinema Board. Others rush through lunch to watch action films at Lunch Theatre.

Cinema Board is a program of 12 uncut movies chosen on the basis of what the students would like to see. This was the program's tenth year and 10,000 students have been in the club since it started. Early in the school year students purchased a five dollar ticket which entitles them to see twelve movies and get half price admission at all Plitt theatres. This year 940 out of 1000 tickets were sold. Cinema Board is self-supported so all its profits go for renting new films and paying the five projection and audio helpers. Films average 300 dollars each, so totally about 4000 dollars are spent each year. Some films that the students were enthusiastic about were "Tommy," "Young Frankstein," and "Three Days of the Condor."

Lunch Theatre is a program of fast moving, inexpensive movies. They are shown for the enjoyment of the students. The movies that received the best response were "American Graffiti," "Walking Tall," "Butch Cassidy and The Sundance Kid," Monty Python, and Bruce Lee movies. During the first four weeks 12,000 tickets were sold. Due to such a large attendance Lunch Theatre is a very profitable program. The money was used to rent better films, a cinema scope lens and screen, and a Christmas party for the children of the faculty. Both movie programs originated at Oak Park River Forest High, and have served as "show cases" to other schools.

The creator of both programs, Mr. Gene Silver, has been their sponsor since they began.

Spirit Club sprang back to life this year, while Monogram Club worked to gain recognition.

Spirit Club began anew after two years of decline. The enthusiastic club could not go wrong under the leadership of the new history teacher, Ms. Miriam Hammons. Spirit Club sold candy apples and decorated the Student Center for Halloween as their first event to help gain funds and attract recognition. On December 3, Spirit Club held a different kind of pep rally which involved a contest called "Beat the Best." For a quarter, any student could compete against any basketball player of his choice. Both student and basketball player got three foul shots; the person who shot the most won. That day resulted in a nice profit for Spirit Club.

Stuart Goldman, president of Monogram Club, strongly stated, "The two main functions of the Monogram Club are to be a service and prestige organization." The members wanted well deserved athletes to have recognition. The club's goals were to revive letter sweaters and to get girls involved. Goldman strived to promote letter sweaters for all athletes. A successful turnout of girls constantly participated at Monogram Club meetings. Club members worked closely with Huskie Booster Club and Spirit Club. Monogram Club members escorted the Salvation Army on October 16, and a group of senior citizens on November 22, through a tour of the school and to lunch.

On January 26, Monogram Club held its main event, "Monogram Winter Festival." Participants gathered at Neilson's Restaurant for the semi-formal affair. The activity was limited to major letter holders and their dates. Monogram Club helped pay for this event by selling Huskie winter hats. Under the leadership of Goldman, Vice-President Marcos Blanco, Secretary-Treasurer Jane Finn, and Sargeant-at-Arms Pete McLauchlan, Monogram Club made a big step forward.

Check-Mate

After a third place victory in the West Suburban Conference last year, the Chess Team enthusiastically entered the 1976-1977 tournament season. The season lasted from September to March, during which the team members practiced weekly.

Even though the members of the team varied from meet to meet, they managed to be undefeated with three-fourths of the season completed. The team was also League Champions in their conference.

This year was only the second year Chess Club had been in conference play. The officers were: Mark Peiser, President, Bill Maras, Vice-President and Secretary-treasurer Willy Gonwa. The sponsor of the Chess Club and Team was Mr. Paul Ostendorf of the History Department.

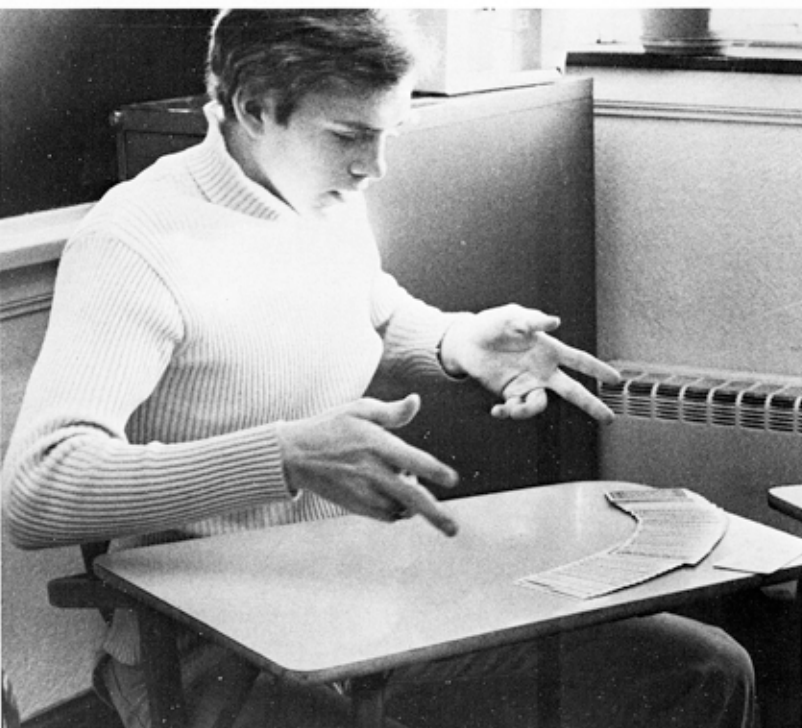

Clubs Interest Students

Human Affairs Club, sponsored by Mr. Michael Averbach, attracts students interested in current events and politics. They meet several times a year to discuss issues in the news and listen to guest speakers. Events included a debate between congressional candidates and holding a mock election for presidency, where Gerald Ford was declared winner.

Magic Club consists of professional members of the National Organization of Magicians. They perform their illusions not only within school but also for public and private organizations. The Magic Club is sponsored by Mr. David Gore of the Math Department.

Sci-Fi members meet to discuss new Science Fiction movies and book. Their meetings are held in room 2001 of the library. The main project of Science Fiction Club is a magazine published every six weeks, free to all interested students. Miss Sally Jacobson is the sponsor of the Science Fiction Club.

Breaker 19: New C.B. Club

The Simulation Games Club led an interesting year recreating important events on a miniature-scale game board. The members played in war games and baseball league tournaments. The club met every other Saturday under the sponsorship of Mr. Stephen Bender of the Science Department.

C.B. Radio Club enthusiastically began its first year, under the sponsorship of Mr. Clyde Carter of the Driver's Education Department. At the weekly meeting the members discussed prices, types, languages, and theft of Citizens' Band Radios. As for the future of the club, Mr. Carter believes it is in the hands of really interested students. Possible plans are being made to purchase a C.B. Radio for the club.

The Guard Staff completed a very active year with three seasons of swimming instruction classes. With almost forty non-swimmers in each class, the staff usually achieved a one hundred percent rate of success. A clinic was held in the fall to help the staff gain the technique of instructing small children. The Guard Staff was sponsored by Mr. Sam Manola of the Science Department and lead by Carolyn Creedon, head guard.

The Monitors and Ushers help to keep our halls orderly: The Ushers direct people through the halls with tours and the Monitors keep students out of the halls during class periods.

The Monitors gave up one study hall a day to fulfill their duties. They are headed by three groups: the five member Board, the Supervisors consisting of thirteen members, and the Sub-Supervisors with nine members. Each group receives medallions made by Mr. Stanley Chapas in the Industrial Technology Department. The Board receives gold, the Supervisors silver, and the Sub-Supervisors bronze. The medallions allow people to know that they are monitors and are allowed to be in the halls during class periods.

Besides several other parties a year, the monitors had a Cake Day once each semester. Three large cakes were made and the monitors stopped in during their free periods to eat them. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Alex Moerle, Miss Barbara Boyer, and Mrs. Terrienne Vyborny, the monitors meet every other week to discuss new ideas or problems.

The Ushers aid in school functions such as plays, concerts, tours, and meetings. They have also been invited to serve at outside conventions. The Ushers are headed by three groups similar to Monitors, they have Lieutenants, Captains, and Elites. The remaining ushers are divided into platoons.

The Ushers had a calendar meeting every month to choose activities to serve at. Miss Boyer and Mrs. Vyborny also sponsored the Ushers. Ushers had their share of parties, too. Before Christmas vacation, officers from previous years were invited back to a party with current officers. The Elite group was included in a party on Halloween. At the Spring party for all ushers, the new officers were installed.

Oriental Splendor

During the last weekend of February and the first in March, many people left the dull winter weather behind and were transported into surroundings of Oriental splendor. Elaborately dressed girls danced in the elegant palace ballroom and walked in a quiet Siamese garden. The event was the spring musical, "The King and I."

The set created a royal atmosphere. According to the stage crew, it was fairly simple to construct, but the tall palatial pillars and oriental designs gave the appearance of size and splendor.

The costumes also gave the play a regal air. This was the largest play that the performers had ever tried to costume themselves. It took eight hundred yards of material and countless hours of work to produce the many costumes needed.

Musical selections were performed by the lead characters and mixed chorus containing approximately fifty students. Selected symphony orchestra members provided the accompaniment.

The hard work and dedication paid off as it will be long remembered by those involved and the audience who enjoyed it so much.

Theme of Orchesis "Want Ads"

With a theme entitled "Want Ads", this year's annual Orchesis show played March 17, 18, 19. The modern dance performance involved 35 girls, under the direction of Miss Sharon Stangel and Mrs. Maureen Nipaver. Each of the girls in the show had the responsibility of picking her music and designing her costume in addition to choreographing the dance itself. The production's theme revolved around the current and future possibilities for women in the career field. Some of the dances included plumbers, executives, astronauts, and firewomen.

Swim Show

This year the aquatic arts group transformed the girls' swimming pool into an airplane and traveled to different locations all over the world. Many long practices after school several days a week, choreographing, and rehearsing the swim routines prepared the 41 members for their shows on May 12, 13, and 14. Back dolphins, surface dives, kips, pikes, clams and ballet legs were the talented stunts the group exhibited. During preparation for the swim show, director Mrs. Mary Lou Nichols expressed her enthusiasm for the group, "We have a larger group than ever this year but at this point the show looks like it will be one of the best. We have excellent talent this year."

History Doesn't Have to Be 'Old'

"History is a waste of time. Why should someone have to learn about things that happened 200 or more years ago." This is the great student complaint about history classes. But what these students don't realize is that history does not have to be confined to the study of kings and queens and wars and revolutions. In the History Department at Oak Park High School, there are many elective classes available to the student who desires a different approach to this subject.

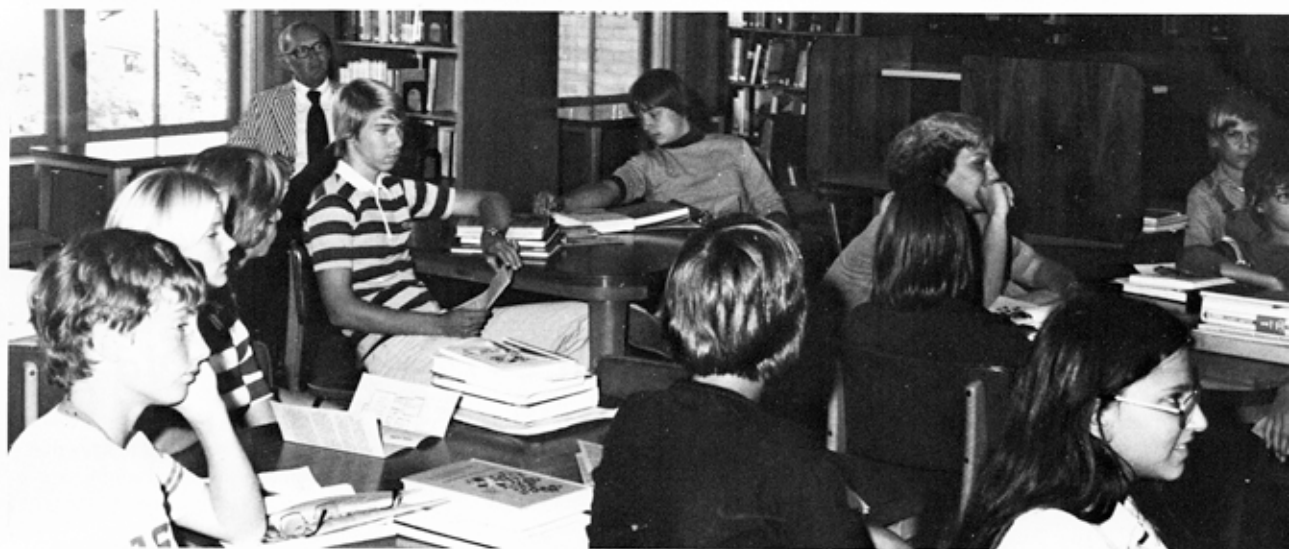

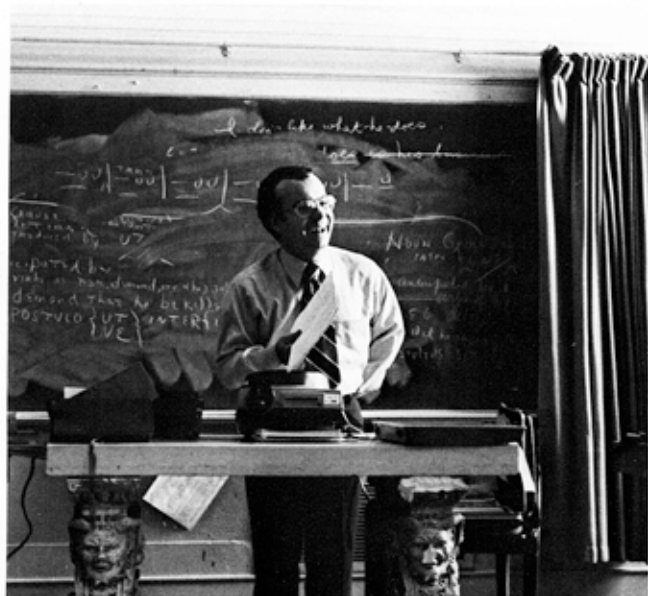

In Sociology, the study of people in society, Mr. Silver likes not only to explain his ideas to the class, but to demonstrate them as well. In a study of family relationships, he may choose students to play the roles of different family members. During discussions, which cover all topics from racial discrimination to love and marriage, he often fires questions at students in order to see their response and to keep them involved. In Sociology, the classroom becomes the best laboratory for the investigation of social behavior.

Students in the new Psychology course learn about people as individuals and the human thought process. This year, Mr. Graziano's class was visited by several speakers including a magician, an alcoholic, and a teacher of Transcendental Meditation. A white laboratory rat named Oscar also made a brief stop in the Psychology classes on his way to being fed to the Science Department's snake, Sydney II. Class activities included an experiment which tested what it is that makes people happy.

As you can see, history doesn't always have to be OLD.

English Provides Overview of Man

English may be most Americans' native language, but at Oak Park High School, English is much more than just a language. In fact, with the extensive programs available here, students may take the equivalent of six or seven years of their native tongue in just four years of high school.

Of course, to begin with, everyone must master the basics of their language — grammar, etc. Most of these skills are covered freshman year. The English Department has now begun to give a standardized minimum requirements test during junior year to check all students' knowledge of grammar mechanics.

Constructing a paragraph is the next skill which must be developed, followed by theme and composition writing. In this high school, an aspiring author can thoroughly develop his writing skills through five different electives including Expository Writing which stresses the essentials of good composition. Creative Writing provides practice in the development of style and creativity. Journalism, of course, teaches reporting and copy writing.

The study of literature in English follows a plan also, beginning with American Literature. At this point, students have the option of combining their study of U.S. History and literature in the combined American Studies course.

Humanities, a popular upperclass elective, is a particularly interesting way to wind up English study senior year. The teachers of this course, Mr. Granias and Mr. Reichard, do not have an easy job. They must combine a study of art, music, architecture, literature, and all of the humanities to answer the four questions of man: Who is man? Where is he going? Is there one lifestyle better than all others? Is man free? Class projects concerning these essential questions often take students to interesting places outside of the classroom: on walking tours downtown, to the Art Institute, or perhaps the Civic Opera House. At the end of the semester, seniors leave Humanities class with good overview of English in its relation to man.

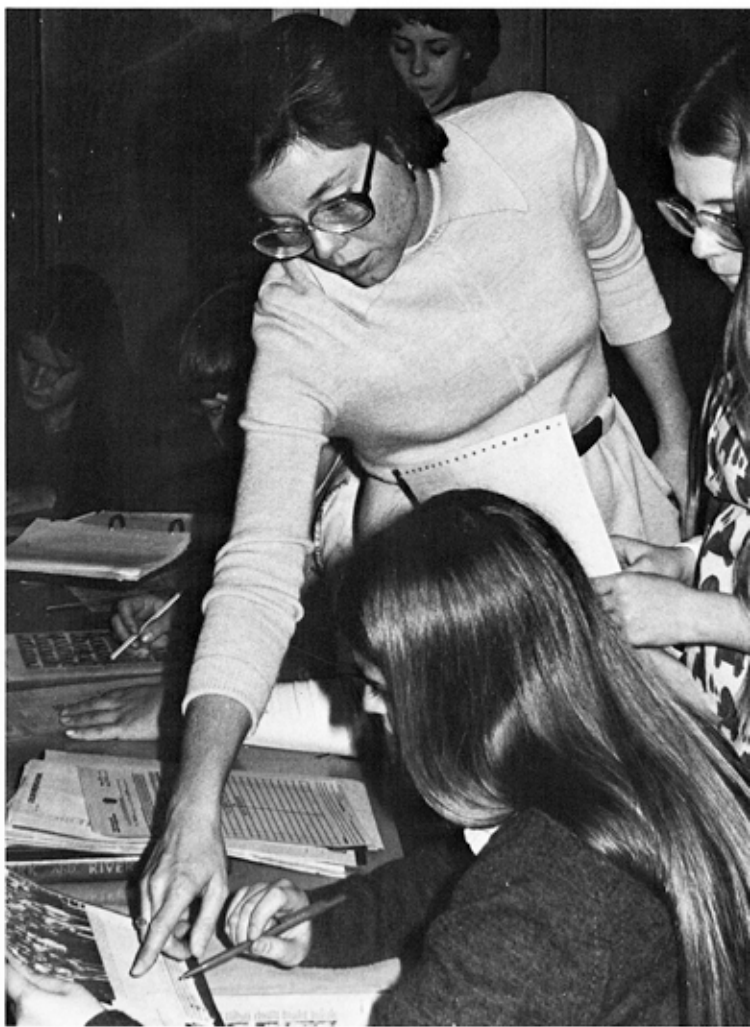

TABULA Captures Essence of Year

"Because of the theme of 'essence' in the yearbook this year, I think that any student who looks at the book in the future will more fully appreciate their days at Oak Park High," said co-editor Bill Wojcik in describing TABULA's choice of theme for the yearbook. The task of capturing this theme in the pages of TABULA began in early August, and involved many hours of layout drawing, picture cropping, and copy writing by all staff members.

The various problems that arise in producing a yearbook were handled this year by Mrs. Pamela Batz, and Mr. Jeff Currie, advisors; Allison Houha, editor-in-chief; Bill Wojcik, co-editor; Dominic Mattucci, sports editor; Anne Raleigh, activities editor; Karen Baehler, academics editor; and Sandy Blake, senior and underclassmen editor.

Special thanks go to Greg Stilwell, cover design, and Miss Carola Kanaya, photographer.

Trapeze Meets Budget Challenge

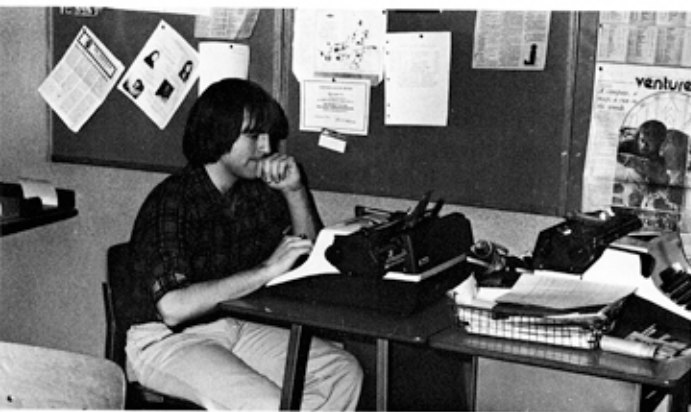

Trapeze like many other areas in the school has suffered budget cuts this year. The newspaper staff currently operates on approximately 50% of the money which was appropriated in previous years. In order to help supplement their revenue Jane Barker was appointed to the position of business manager. With a lot of hard work she has been able to add enough money through advertising to continue Trapeze's publication every full school week.

This advertising has had adverse consequences, however. The staff is unable to have as many articles printed as they would like because ads now take up more room. Editors now debate every week on the issue of whose page the ads will be printed on.

Jim Cox, editor-in-chief, has still tried to get in one editorial each week, written by himself or by another staff member. Two new columns have also been added. "More Than Meets the Eye" by Allan Brettman and Meg Saunders gives a more revealing look at the athletic department, while Anne Staunton has developed "After Thoughts", a thought provoking column. A regular editorial cartoon drawn by Mike Longinow, along with other humorous cartoons, is also featured.

"Story content this year is ten times better than in the past," said Mr. Currie, Trapeze co-advisor. "The articles are more informative and more interesting," according to Allan Brettman, Sports editor. Trapeze seems determined to continue their high standards regardless of obstacles.

Crest Since 1893

Although many schools have ended the tradition of a student literary magazine, OPRF has continued to publish Crest since the first publication in 1893. In addition to the magazine, Crest publishes two supplements to Trapeze during the year.

The staff members work together selecting publication material from the 250 manuscripts that are submitted. The selections range from prose and poetry to artwork. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Daniel Reichard, the staff also works on layout and design, arranging the selected pieces and illustrations to be included. The magazine serves as a showcase for the best writers, artists, and photographers in the school. Crest also publishes the prizewinning piece of the Hemingway Writing Contest, sponsored annually by the Board of Education.

SOYEZ LE BIENVENU

Cultures Studied

After a slide presentation of Switzerland and Turkey during the lunch periods last fall, International Club hosted a Philippine dance recital on February 18. The dancers, who have appeared at the Museum of Science and Industry, performed for an evening audience at the high school. Miss Monego sponsors the International Club which consists of students, both foreign and American, who meet once a month to explore international cultures. The club tries to have at least one guest speaker each year, but otherwise the activities vary depending on the members.

Lingua also concentrates on foreign culture but has a different approach. The small group of advanced foreign language students who make up the Lingua staff meet during a scheduled period of the day compiling a magazine that is published each spring. The eleven to eighteen members organize themselves to accomplish all the details involved with the magazine. Lingua is not subsidized by the Foreign Language Department. Instead, each copy, costing fifteen cents, pays for the offset printing which is the only aspect of the magazine not handled by the staff. This year the magazine's theme is Seasons.

Bilingual Aids Contribute Knowledge

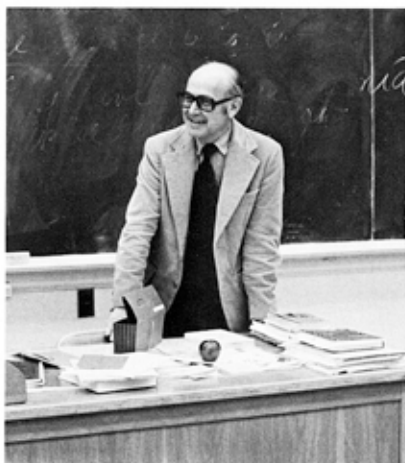

Amidst the many foreign language courses available, there is a unique Italian class that began in the fall of 1974. The ordinary foreign language courses range from first year introductory courses to fourth or, in some cases, fifth year advanced classes. Departing from this format, Ms. Marilyn Mozzillo's Italian class explores both the language and the culture of Italy. The class, which is open to Juniors and Seniors, consists mostly of people of Italian ancestry. Consequently, many of the students are familiar with the Italian language. The course aims to provide the students with a knowledge of Italian culture, and a sufficient vocabulary to survive a tour of Italy.

Within the Foreign Language Department, teachers use various methods to aid learning within the guidelines of their programs. Ms.

Jan Kerr uses comic books in her classes. Ms. Barbara Boyer plays Spanish songs on the guitar. And, Mr. Alfred Schoepko employs a "kiddie" piano. All three gimmicks are devised to help students learn vocabulary.

In addition to the foreign language classes, the Foreign Language Dept., headed by Mr. Hector Otero, has a program of bilingual teacher aids. A list, comprised of students of various nationalities, represents the bilingual students at OPRF. Both the school and the community benefit from this group of people who, presently, command thirty-two languages. As "big brothers" and "big sisters," bilingual students help new non-English speaking students to adjust to the school. In the community, students with particular language skills can be of aid in unique communication problems.

The Art Department has undergone radical changes under the re-organization policies of Mr. Robert Kerr, the new Art Dept. chairman. There has been an effort to bring the whole dept. into a unified group of faculty, students, and facilities. A student panel created the first float the art dept. has ever had for Homecoming. They also represented the art students at dept. meetings. A new orientation program during the first two weeks of school allowed all of the art classes to get together and state their objectives, desires, and to become more familiar with the available facilities. Classrooms no longer belong to any one teacher and students are encouraged to seek assistance from any teacher.

The Art Department is also responsible for the "Meet the Artist" program. The staff has tried to get artists from a variety of fields including needle-craft, painting, sculpture, photography, and jewelry. The idea behind "Meet the Artist" is not necessarily to teach technique but to provide exposure, particularly for the non-art student, and to get him interested in art. Before the arrival of the artist, the work is put on display to acquaint students with his style and to further encourage them to come and see the program. Some of the artists this year were Mr. Felix Eboigbe with his African sculpture and Mr. Keating who showed his aluminum sculpture.

New programs are under way for next year. Art Foundations II, now a pre-requisite for all other art classes will no longer be required. A special class for people interested in art but unable to take the many courses offered because of heavy schedules will provide a broad view in a single year. A class in graphic design will be offered to give students some idea of how to apply their talents commercially.

"I'm delighted with the changes. I really enjoy working close together with the staff in all aspects. The dept. is great this year and it's going to get better next year and the year after that," sums up Ms. Musinski.

Art Dept. Sees Changes

Orchestra Students Travel, Perform

Oak Park-River Forest High School has the largest orchestra department in Illinois. A total of 173 students participated this year.

As well as taking a European tour during spring break, the Symphony Orchestra performed three concerts and accompanied two choral concerts. Eight soloists were selected to play with the orchestra in their spring concerts. Five performed in March and three in May. More students from Symphony played in District and All-state Orchestras than last year.

The String Chamber Orchestra had fifteen more members in it than the previous year and was kept busy preparing for two concerts.

"Overall, the Concert Orchestra is stronger than it's ever been," according to orchestra conductor Mr. Jack Wirtz. The Concert Orchestra is composed mainly of Freshmen.

Choirs Perform, Gain Confidence

If you're a student who sits at a desk all day reading novels, writing essays, and taking tests, Mr. Frank Kratky, the choral director, would like you to glance into one of the ten choir classes which meet every day in the Music Department. Here students get a chance to be participants in a class rather than spectators. Singing can also be a release of tensions. Mr. Kratky would like to see even more students involved in this kind of therapeutic activity.

Of course, choir is not just a free for all therapy session. In class Miss Linda Rapciak, a new instructor this year, and Mr. Kratky teach students how to handle their voices and how to read music. Then all members of these choirs perform in different concerts throughout the year, an activity which helps to build each person's confidence as well as training his voice.

This year the A Capella Choir, the most advanced group of upperclassmen, performed in the Christmas Vespers concert as well as in a spring concert. The underclass boys and girls choruses, which are now called the Apollo, Lyrian, and Aeolian choruses, gave their own concert in May. Concert Choir, in their production of "Backstage Hollywood," performed popular types of songs from the most famous musical plays. The Swing Choir and Jazz Band gave a Concert together in January. The Madrigals got a chance to gain experience outside of school when they were invited to perform for the River Forest library and several local churches.

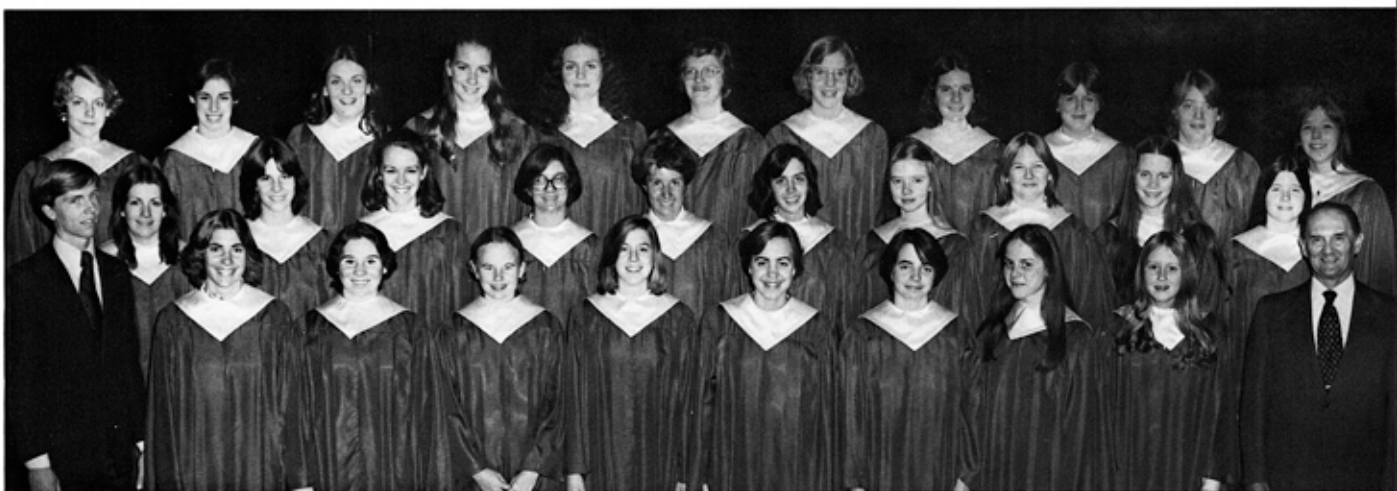

Cooperation with the Drama Department is, of course, another important function of the Music Department. Students can train their voices in choir and develop their acting skills in drama class. The results of these efforts are the grand, professional-style musical production which Oak Park is famous for.

Studio Theater Is for Students

Studio Theater is the student's side of Oak Park High School's Drama Department. The productions in room 200 are like extensions of the drama classes in which students who have not previously performed can gain experience and work toward roles in the major school productions.

In these plays, everything is done by the students. The directors are chosen from the third year drama class. They must pick the play which they want to produce, cast the parts, set up the blocking, and work with the actors to perfect their roles. The sets are designed by the stage-craft class. During the after-school performances, even the lighting and sound are run by students.

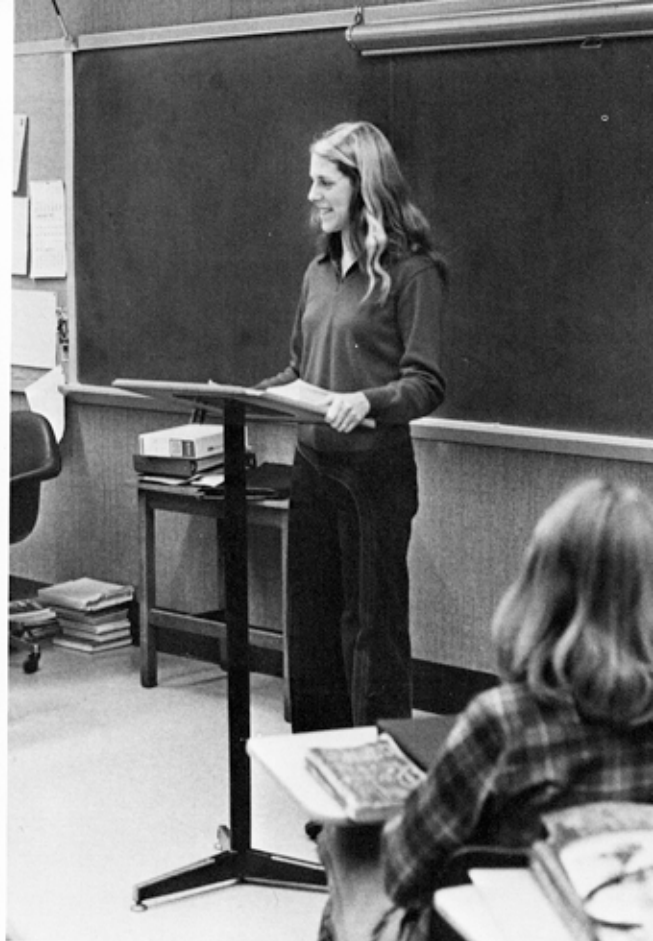

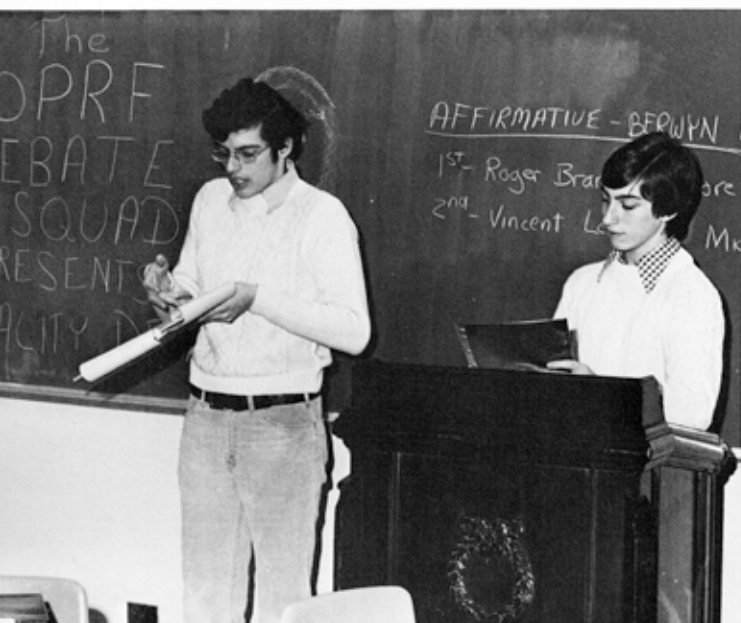

This year, four plays were performed in the Studio Theater: "Private Lives," directed by Joy Guscott, "The Subject Was Roses," directed by Sam Heller, "Sherlock Holmes and the Hound of the Baskervilles," directed by Vic Pilolla, and "Dylan," directed by Jim D'Asaro.

Forensics Requires Dedication

The Speech team, coached by Mr. Lennie, and the Debate team, coached by Mr. Demos, both require a great amount of time. Debaters work on this year's topic question: be it resolved that a comprehensive program of penal reform should be adopted throughout the United States. Speakers work on a variety of subjects from original comedy to verse reading. Student Congress is also a goal to work for besides individual rewards. This is a simulated legislative session for students held once in the Fall and once in the Spring for anyone who's won a first place award during the year. Enthusiastic students also can go to summer speech institutes with money raised by the National Forensics League, the umbrella organization for both the Debate and Speech teams.

Speech classes are also available, taught by Mr. Lennie. Speech Communications is for freshmen and sophomores and Public Speaking is for juniors and seniors. These classes are geared toward learning to communicate and understanding the communication process.

Science Includes Sauerkraut, Slinkies, and Stairs

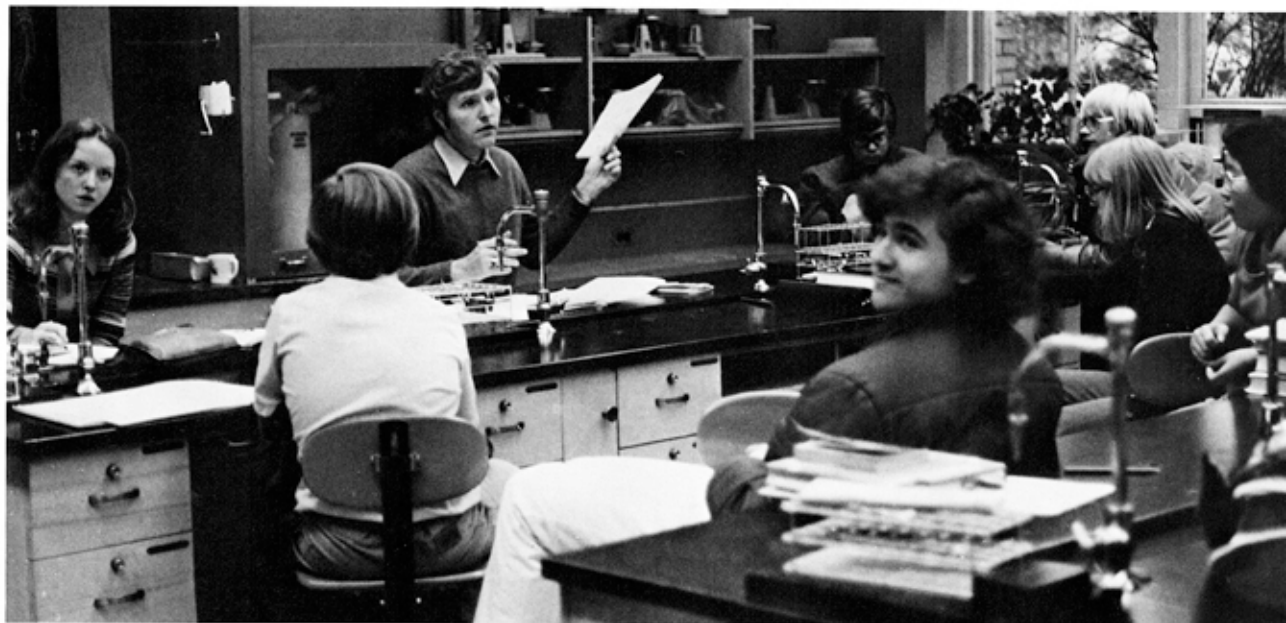

Sauerkraut, cheese, and wine. Does that sound like Home Economics? No, it's Microbiology Class at OPRFHS.

This year the science classes have allowed the students to get more involved in understanding sciences. Using the excellent equipment available in the science labs the students performed interesting experiments. Physics students could be seen chasing slinkies in the halls to investigate how waves travel. Microbiology students made sauerkraut, and investigated microorganisms in cheese and wine. Young biologists raced up and down flights of stairs to test the effect of exercise on their pulse rates. Clearly, at Oak Park High science is more than dreary equations and formulas.

Astro Physics Added to Clubs

Do you like learning about environmental experiences? Are you concerned about your environment? Or, maybe you just like gazing at the stars? If so then you should have been involved in Biology Club, Pollution Control Center, or Astro Physics Club.

Perhaps one of the most interesting parts of the new Astro Physics Club is their campouts, where the members experienced both sides of the Midwest's seasons. One of the campouts was held in the summer's 80° weather. Another campout was during semester break where they experienced the frigid cold wave that passed through.

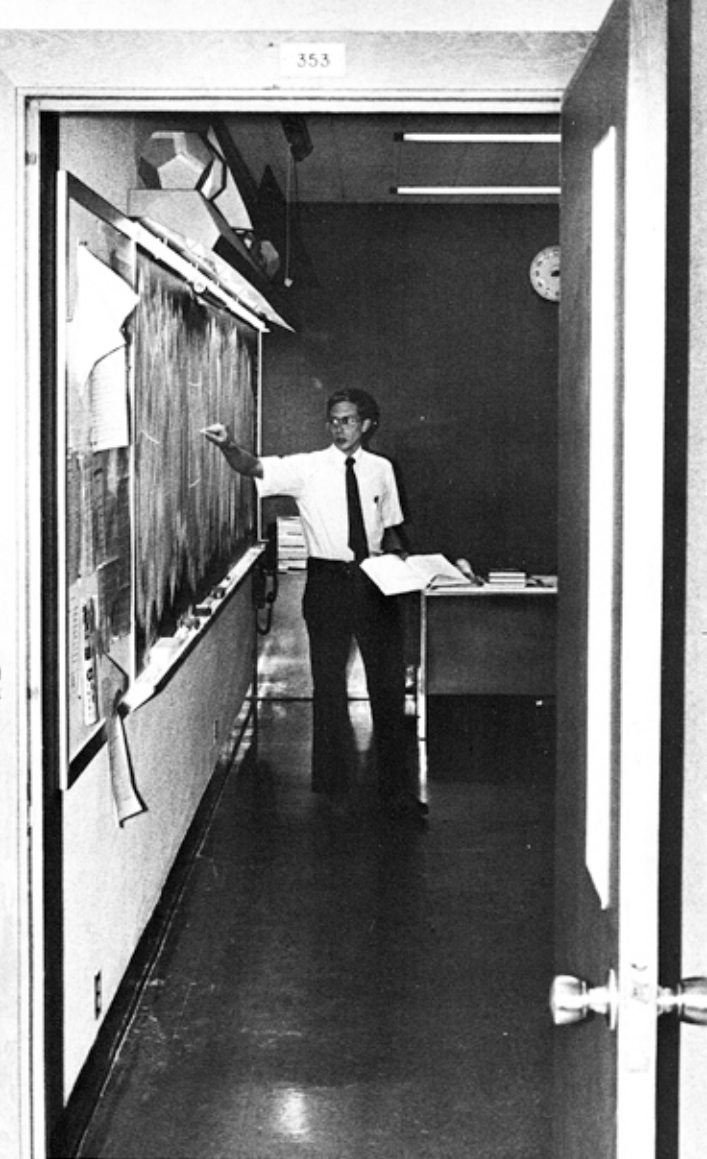

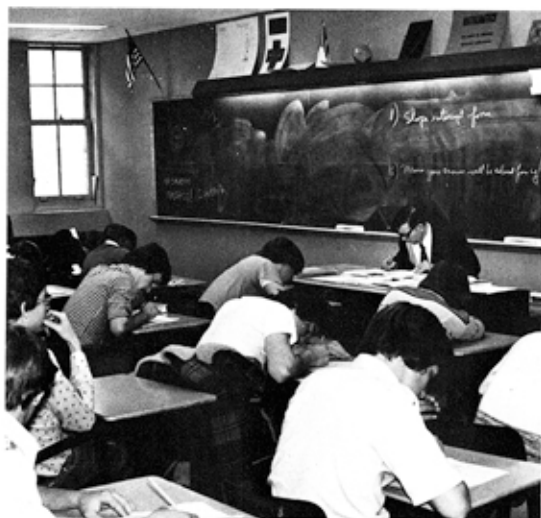

This year Biology Club added a new subgroup for students interested in helping conserve the environment. This group was organized by Laura Weiss, Vice President of Pollution Control Center.

Pollution Control Center and Biology Club are directed by Mr. Ed Radatz. The leaders of the Center and Club are Cassie Plona and Brian Felix. Mr. Joe Meyer is the director of Astro Physics Club. The leaders of the club are Donna Mehos, Jammie Thomsen, Francis Stefani, and Liz Wiatr.

Computers Studied

Teachers of Geometry, Geometry H, and Advanced Algebra spend two weeks studying BASIC computer programming. This mini-course serves to acquaint the students, with some degree of competency, to the BASIC computer language, to expose students to the fine computer facilities available here, and to advertise for the FORTRAN computer programming course that is also available. The FORTRAN class, taught by Mr. Rendone and Mr. Fredericks, lasts an entire semester and offers a more extensive study in computer programming. Both titles are acronyms. FORTRAN stands for formula translation while BASIC represents beginner's all-purpose symbolic instruction code. By the year's end, three semester classes and fifteen two week mini-sessions involve about five-hundred students in computer programming.

Between Math and Newton Clubs, all students have the opportunity to get involved in mathematics at their level. The Math Club, sponsored by Mr. Gabanski, accommodates freshmen and sophomore math students. After sophomore year, interested kids can move up to Newton Club.

Business Teaches Practical Skills

In high school, it is difficult to avoid the "old." English classes analyze 1200 years of literature and history studies purely the past. But the Business Department at Oak Park High School is concerned with the present — the business world of 1976 and 1977.

The 13 faculty members of this department teach over 15 different courses to familiarize students with one of the largest career fields open today. They begin with the basics: typing, stenography, the use of business machines. The data processing course, in particular, has grown within the past year from a simple keypunch operation to a sophisticated system of computer processing with the addition of new equipment.

The Lester Hill Corporation in room 303 is one area where students are able to use these newfound skills. Otherwise known as Office Procedures, this class provides an opportunity for girls to run a mock office. With the help of Mrs. Bullen, they gain experience in different level positions as they deal with the problems which arise in the business of distributing industrial supplies.

For experience in the real world where companies are not run by teachers and salaries take the place of grades, 25 students enrolled in the Distributive Education program this year. First period every day, Mr. Pirrello teaches the D.E. members the principles of marketing: salesmanship, displays, advertising, etc. Later in the afternoon, the students are dismissed early to apply these ideas to their own jobs as clerks, stock boys, and assistant managers.

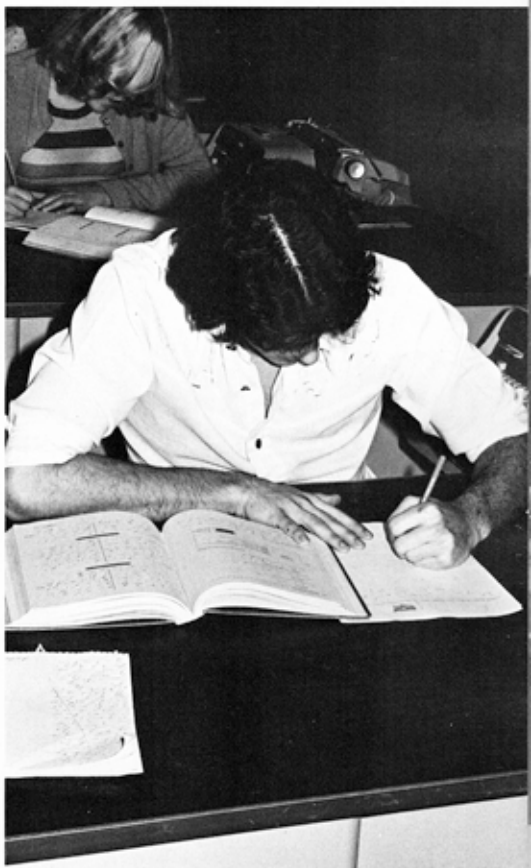

Employers, of course, realize the value of the marketing class and, according to Mr. Pirrello, have been cooperative in giving the students added responsibility.

Every participant in the D.E. program is also one of 16,000 members of a national organization called D.E.C.A., Distributive Education Clubs of America. Leadership is the central idea here. In D.E.C.A., students learn responsibility and organization. They are also allowed to compete for awards through state and national level contests. In the spring, in Anaheim, California, national winners receive special scholarships for outstanding performance in salesmanship, public speaking, and other related skills.

Industrial Arts Looks to Careers

From Power Mechanics to Advanced Auto Systems, from Woodworking to Machine Woods, from the very basic to the highly complicated, the Industrial Technology Department offers an interesting and varied field in the way of career skills.

Students who take classes in this department prove themselves to be some of the most energetic in the school. Architecture students can be found after school, on weekends and holidays, as well as during the regular school day, working on contest projects for the Illinois Institute of Technology Drafting awards, and the Frank Lloyd Wright architecture awards.

Students from Mr. Gauger's Auto Shop classes can be found in the Plymouth Trouble-Shooting contest, sponsored by the Chrysler Corporation.

Not only do the classes participate in the many and varied contests, but high scores are second nature to the students under the skilled direction of the teachers, whose experience in their fields totals over 80 years.

There are few departments in the school that can offer the incoming freshman such a great opportunity at a career because of the many different skills offered. For the junior or senior looking for an extra class, this department is ideal according to department chairman, Mr. Urbanick.

One other factor makes the Industrial Arts Department so well-rounded. Along with being among the best in the nation, it offers one more thing important to any good curriculum. Everybody in these classes enjoys himself.

Home Ec. Studies Family Life

Children between the ages of three and eight attended Home Economics classes at Oak Park High School this year. That may sound strange, but it was all a part of Miss Flower's Child Development course. The kids came to class towards the end of the semester for a special party in which Miss Flower's students got a chance to test what they had learned about handling groups of young people. During the weeks before the party, guests came to speak to the class about Lemaze (natural childbirth), birth defects, and infant care. Later, the class began reading children's books and watching Sesame Street — exercises in looking at things through the child's eyes.

Mrs. VanThorre's class colored in coloring books. However, these students were not studying child development but Interior House Design. The coloring books were, of course, used for practice in color coordination. Students in this design class also learned about furniture styles, fabrics, carpeting, and general decorating principles.

The girls whose jobs involved certain Home Ec. skills took part in Mrs. Engemann's Home Ec. Coop. program. In this distributive education-type class, participants received one credit for the class and one credit for an after-school job in some area of food service, clothing maintenance, or child care. Members of the coop. (H.E.R.O.) also took part in local and state competitions and skill shops.

Obviously, the Home Ec. department at Oak Park High School is more than cooking and sewing. In progressive classes such as Family Living and Child Development, students learn how to deal with the home and family life as well as outside job demands.

Media Center Offers T.V. Class

The Media Center incorporated two previously separate facilities this year. The Audio Visual department became part of the larger Media Center. The Media Center now involves the Library, A.V. and their workers. All of the student workers, the media aids, help during their free time. Those students working in the library assist the librarians on both the second and third floors, while the A.V. aids work in the A.V. section delivering projectors, films, and tape-recorders to classes.

This year, a new television class opened, taught by Mr. Lenny and Mr. Vogel which explored all of the elements that contribute to television production. The class had actual cameras and televisions to work with.

In the past, the media aids had, collectively, formed the Media Club. However, the media aids' representation declined and this year the small remaining group renamed the organization Film Preview Club. Mr. Kauderer, sponsor, and the small group's members changed the purpose and goals of Media Club along with its name.

The staff is composed of 14 members under the direction of Mrs. Batz. Each day, the photographers work with the newspaper and yearbook staffs to insure that the pictures which are taken will best illustrate each writer's story. This combined effort is called photo-journalism, an essential part of any publication.

In order to cover the many events which occur each day, photographers work overtime. During the day they slip in and out of classrooms, waiting to capture an interesting picture for Tabula. At night, they travel from plays to concerts to basketball games with 35 mm cameras and rolls and rolls of film. Early in the morning, of course, there is always a meeting to cover.

For other students who may not have the extra time required for Photo Staff, Mr. Stefanelli holds dark room sessions every Wednesday after school for the Photo Club. This activity gives interested students a chance to pursue their photography hobbies or, perhaps, to catch up on an assignment for photography class. Whatever the case, with the excellent equipment available at Oak Park High School, all photographers get a good chance to practice their craft.

Physical Education

The Physical Education Department this year has added co-educational classes to comply with Title IX, a state law which requires that co-ed classes be available. This year ice skating, dancing, tennis, jogging, and softball were options. One courageous boy asked to participate in archery and was enthusiastically accepted. "Plans are underway to create additional co-ed classes next year. The reaction of the students and teachers has been very positive because no one is being forced into co-ed gym," said Mr. Wehrli, dept. head. "I really didn't notice any difference," remarked Claudia Sitton, one of the participants.

Drivers Ed Gets Station Wagons

The Driver's Education Department took a new turn this year by adding station wagons to their fleet. This has been the first time that station wagons have been used for Drivers Ed. in our school. However, Mr. Cothorn says that there is not that much difference between driving a station wagon and a mid-size car.

The Drivers Education Dept. is proud of having another safe year.

Special Education

This year the Special Education Department once again opened its door to help students grow and learn.

This has been the sixth year that the Special Education Dept. has been in operation at our school. It has been helping students to learn as much as possible, to live in society, to become independent, and most important, to be contributing members in society. Students receive help through regular classes.

Department Chairman, Mr. Thomas Hamilton, is proud of his young, talented staff. This year Sara Schar has been added to the staff as the new Resource Teacher. She works with the entire faculty to spot students with minor learning disabilities.

Besides Schar, Kathy Wutke, Dan McHugh, Sue Donoghue, and Karen Green, a full time Social Worker, were added to the department this year.

'Most Organized' Alternative Study

"I've been a student in several alternative programs before X.P. and I honestly believe this is the most organized program I have experienced," said Josephine Nasjeletie, a newcomer to the school. With classes such as nutrition, cartooning, future genetics and a Chicago class that includes one field trip a week to different places in Chicago, the X.P. program at Oak Park High School combines diversity and organization. There are students involved in internship in medicine, veterinary medicine and architecture. Added to this are classes held after school at teachers' homes — a major reason for the close relationship which exists between student and teacher in X.P. The advisors feel that, because of this relationship, they are better able to help students deal with whatever problems arise.

Many of the X.P. participants are involved in individual studies in which they design the courses that they are interested in. "It's more difficult in X.P. than in regular school. There's nothing scarier than a blank slate. Sometimes it takes awhile for a student to use X.P. facilities to the fullest," says Jim Walwark. "We don't have one hundred percent success because we're dealing with humans."

P. P. S. Makes High School Life a Bit Easier

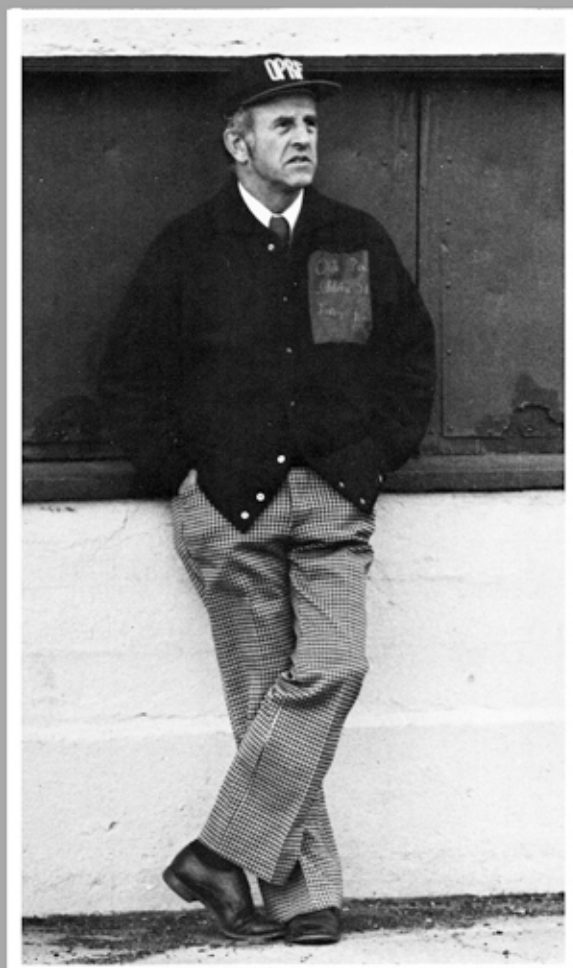

With 4,000 students, 240 faculty members, and just as many conflicts and problems at Oak Park High School, the pupil personnel service is truly a necessity. Although many students are not even aware that these services exist, there are deans, social workers, nurses, a psychologist, and even a vocational counselor available at all times. Each of these people has a specific job, but they share a common goal — to make high school life a little easier. They deal with specific handicaps such as speech problems, and learning disabilities, as well as the common needs which every student has.

For most students, the dean serves as the personal contact with the P.P.S. or perhaps the place where "the buck stops." Each dean must solve scheduling, counseling and discipline problems for approximately 270 students. A student will contact his dean whether he wishes to complain, ask advice, or get out of school early. A quick glance into the always crowded 2nd and 3rd floor offices is proof of this.

Why Did Huskie Gridders Collapse?

The football team won five of its first six games, then lost its last three, to finish with a 5-4 record and in a five way tie for third place in the West Suburban Conference. The losing streak left many people, including the players and coaches, wondering what caused the collapse.

The Huskies won the first game 7-0 on a touchdown run by Craig Kumerow in the last twenty-five seconds. They won "The Battle of the River" against Proviso East 9-6 on a controversial overtime field goal by Bob Behren. Behren kicked the field goal when he was given a second chance because of an inadvertent whistle as his first attempt was blocked. Proviso filed a protest, but it was over ruled and the Huskies were 2-0.

In the next three games the gridders won handily over Glenbard East and Proviso West, but lost their first game of the season to Glenbard West. Then the Huskies faced a must win situation against Downers Grove North and they completely dominated the Trojans to gain a 14-13 victory.

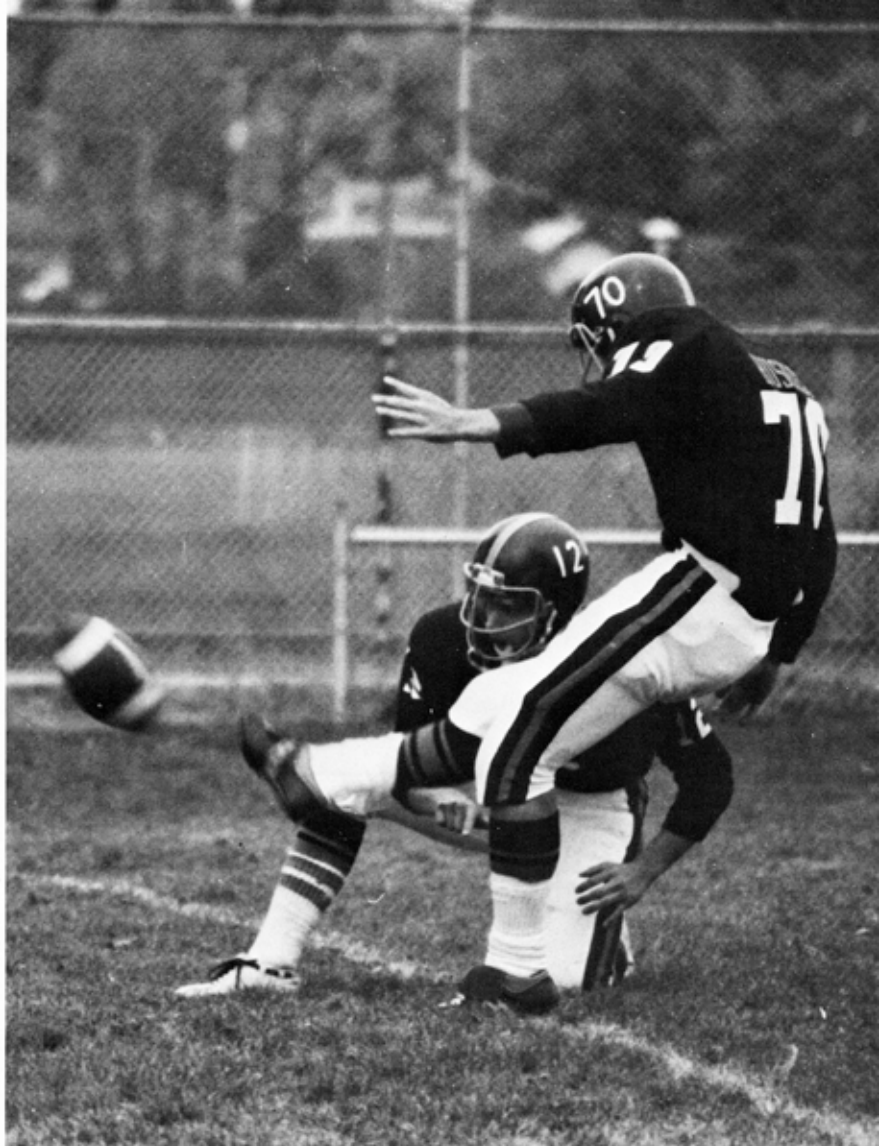

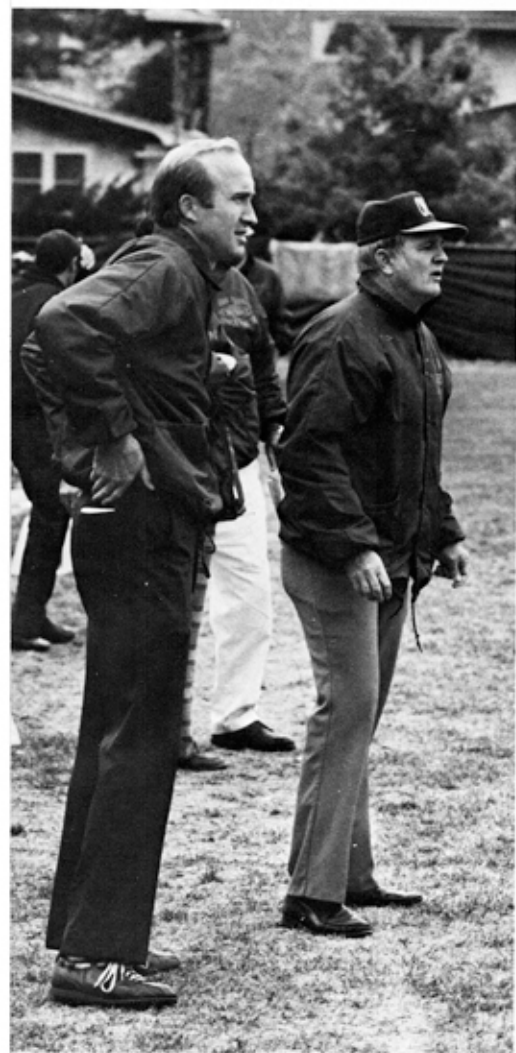

The gridders were 5-1 and had high hopes of making the playoffs. However, the collapse began with a 20-14 overtime loss against York and continued the next two weeks with shut-out losses to Riverdale-Brookfield and Lyons Township. York and Lyons finished in eighth and ninth place respectively in the WSC.

According to the coaches and players, the Huskie collapse can be accounted for by the following reasons: most important, the players' attitudes changed dramatically after the Downers Grove victory. The fantastic attitude that carried the Huskies through "one of the best double sessions ever" and a 5-1 record was invisible in the last three Huskie losses. This was probably the result of the loss of Joe McMahon to an injury. Joe's inspirational leadership was missed dearly after he broke an ankle in the Downers Grove game. Secondly, the Huskies just weren't big enough. Although their great conditioning made up for their lack of size at the beginning of the season, it caught up to them in the end. Finally, the Huskies didn't have the luck at the end of the season like they had at the beginning.

Individually, the Huskies placed five players on the All Conference team: co-captains Owen Beacom and Marcos Blanco; Scott Mampre, Elijah Williams and Bill Wojcik. Beacom also was the Oak Park MVP.

Mr. Ed Zembal commented after one of the late season losses that football was "a funny game," a statement that certainly exemplifies the 1976 season.

Girls Place First in Districts

Even though the girls' tennis team was without the services of three of the players who led them to the state title last year, the team was a powerhouse in the always tough West Suburban Conference.

In conference play, the girls compiled the same 8-3 record as last year's team. Senior Mary Ann Nelson was MVP and won first place in the district play. The Huskies had received a bad draw in the districts and Nelson was the only Oak Park player to win.

Jane Finn, Lynn Elbert, Mary Ann Nelson, Dina Johnston, and Carol McAdam were voted to the All-Conference Team.

There were many sophomores and juniors on the team and Coach Joyce Carlson is hoping that they will be even stronger next year and bring back the state championship to Oak Park.

Girls Form Own Cross Country Team

In the 1976 fall sports schedule there was a new listing, Girls' Cross Country. The team was started when a few girls in a jogging class asked their teacher Mr. Slack what went into a cross country team. He said that he would show them to the best of his ability. With one month left in the season the team was formed and had nineteen members. They participated in three meets and won 1, lost 1, and tied 1. Mr. Slack enjoyed coaching them and said, "They will be good next year because they have experience which is very important in cross country running."

"They worked hard and above average," commented Roy Gummerson, the coach of the Boys' Cross Country team when he discussed the team's season for this year. He also said the team was consistent but couldn't get one of the three front runners Eric Ebel, Capt. Tim Barany, and Joe Koebel to break through the other schools front runners. This year's varsity record was 3 and 7. Gummerson, retiring as coach of the team this year, said, "The boys have experience to be good next year."

Huskies Get First Taste of State Playoffs

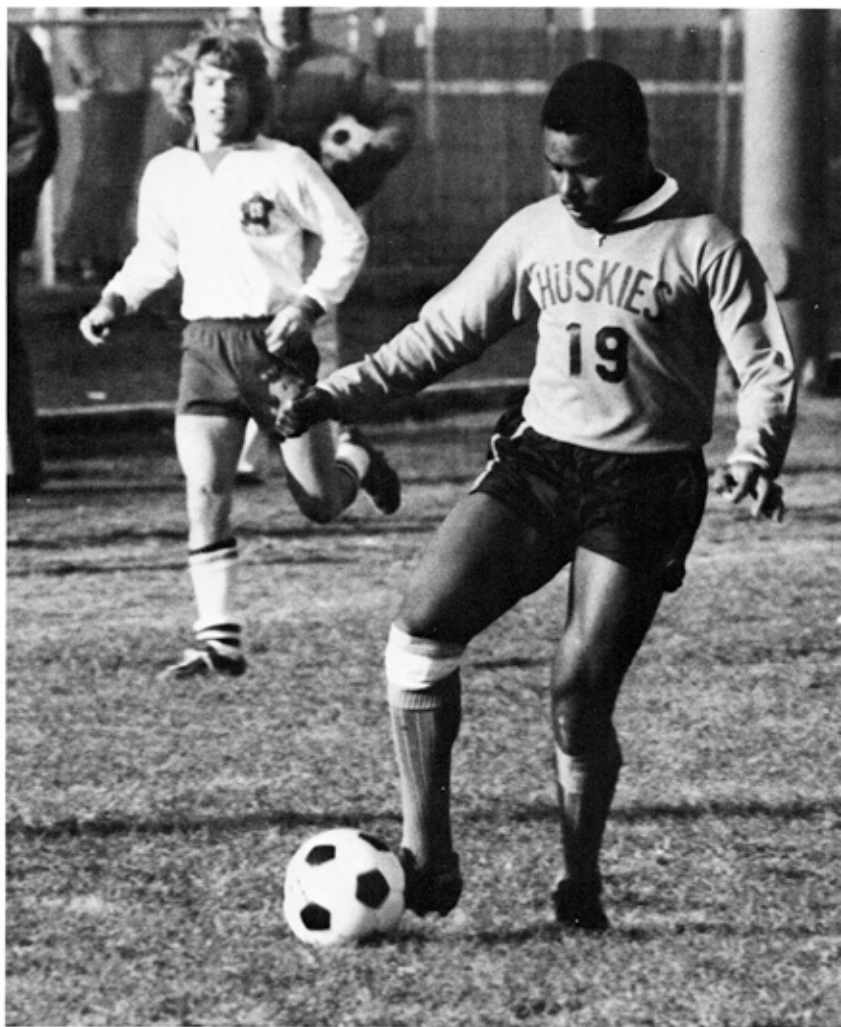

Winning the West Suburban Conference and going to state were the goals of the varsity soccer team. These goals were not dreams as they had been the year before but were a reality.

Aggressive playing, self-confidence, and overall talent on behalf of the players led the Huskies to a tie for the league championship and the Hinsdale Central sectional title where they shutout all four of their opponents. The Huskies then went to state for the first time where they bowed out gracefully in the first round by losing 2-1 to a tough Wheaton-Warrenville team.

Dom Bredy and Alex Dmyterko won All-State and All-Conference honors. Dmyterko was also voted MVP. Mike Budrick was voted to the All-Tournament team and was also All-Conference. All-Conference titles were awarded to Bob Ramsay, Glen Seifert, and Dave Bode.

Coach Dick Trout believes that a winning attitude and a winning tradition is developing in the soccer team and that it will continue for a long time.

Next year the team's goals are the same as this year's and with many fine players returning the state crown is not far out of reach.

Field Hockey Popularity Increases This Year

More than 70 girls turned out for the Field Hockey Team, outnumbering all previous records. Practices began in late August, when the team drilled to prepare for the season ahead.

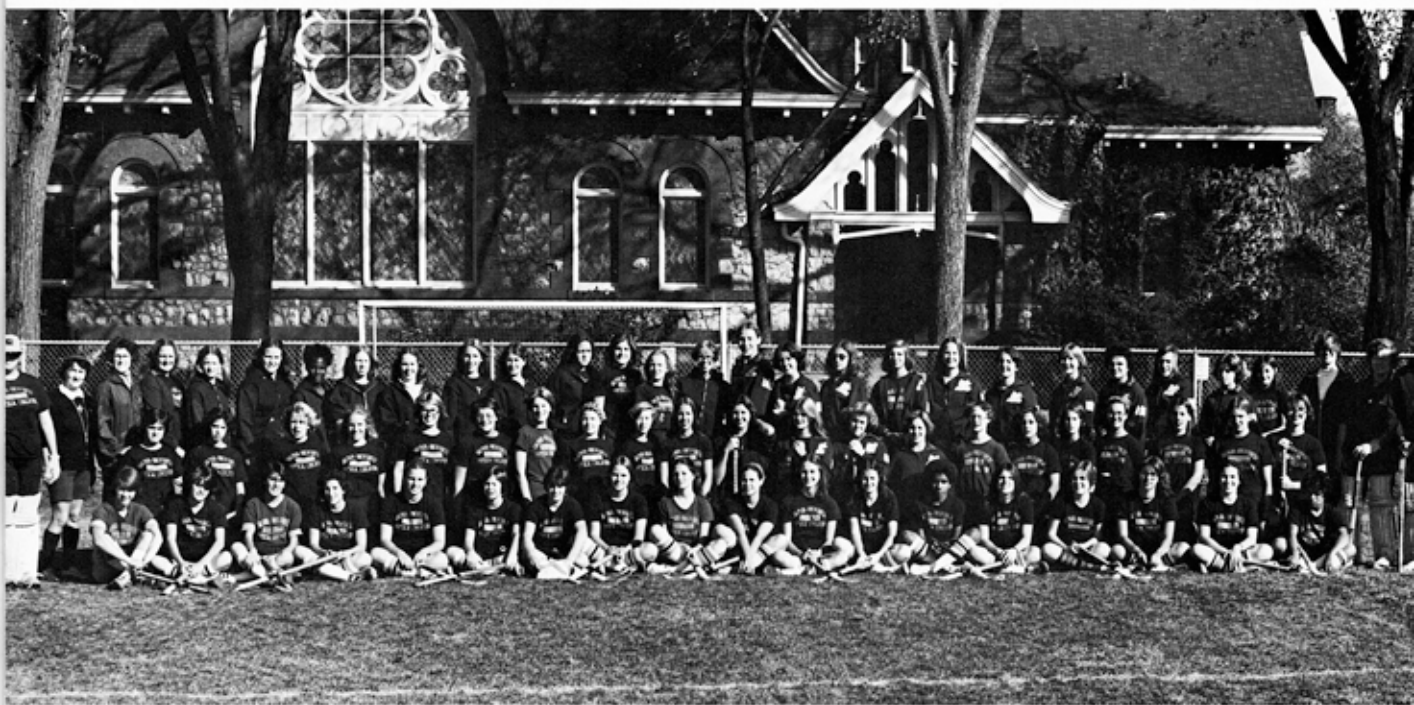

Good use was made of the new athletic field as practices ran from 9th period until late afternoon. On the day of an important game, practices were often held at 7:00 a.m.

The Homecoming game proved successful for the Varsity. After getting behind 2-0 in the quarter, the Varsity made a comeback and defeated Lincolnway 5-4.

The Varsity made it to the Sub sectionals but lost to Conant 1-0.

The Varsity compiled a record of 2-9 under Coach Miss Mary K. Brown. Margaret Kahovec, was picked by the Varsity players as most valuable player.

The Junior Varsity was coached by Mrs. Pat Brown who commented that many of the Junior Varsity members showed improvement throughout the season.

Golf Team Improves and Shows Promise

The Golf Team showed great improvement and promise for the future, Coach Bob Zimmerman said. The team compiled a 7-9 record and finished seventh in the West Suburban Conference. None of their opponents could say they were an easy match. They were able to upset Glenbard West in what Zimmerman felt was a thrilling match. They won by two strokes. The team was led by Captain Jim Prescott, senior Jim Gilmore, juniors Tony Claveria, and Larry Fitzgerald. Claveria, only a junior, was voted MVP. He led the team with an average of 43.4 for nine holes. Zimmerman said, "We improved considerably and were in every match. I expect we will be moving up in the near future."

Eckenroad Goes to State

"Every time they entered the water they bettered their times," said Mrs. Mary Lou Nichols, coach of the girls' swim team.

Although this year's team was a very young one, with only four seniors on it, it placed fourth in the very tough West Suburban Conference and looks to be very promising for next year.

Sue Eckenroad, a freshman, qualified for State competition in the individual medley. She placed nineteenth in the entire state in that event.

The diving team, coached by Ms. Sharon Stangel also did well. Anne Hinrichs and Julie Cain placed ninth and twelfth respectively in State.

Water Polo Wins Second in State

Potential? The tankmen had a total of six men to acquire all state honors, and the squad was one of the most experienced, with a team comprised mostly of seniors.

Desire? They had their sights set high and mightily, at the state crown. They would accept nothing less than superb.

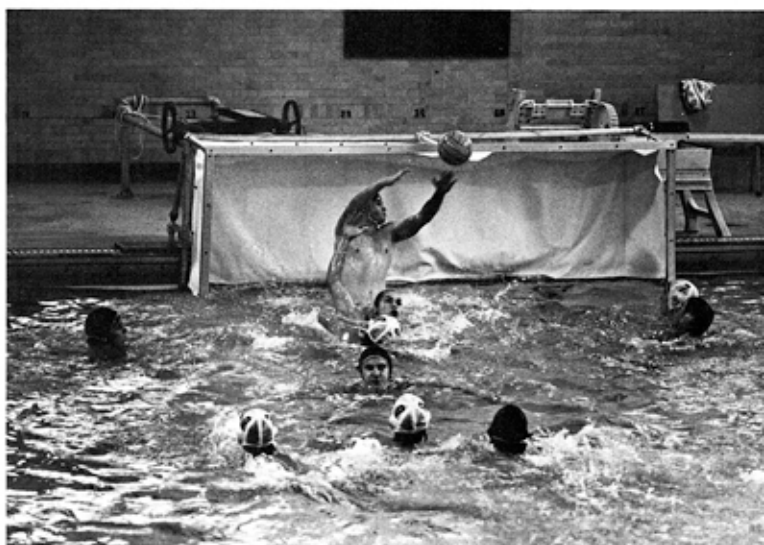

The Polo players had everything going for them except the "breaks". During the season it seemed Fenwick had all the luck, while the Huskies were behind the proverbial eight-ball.

The 11-10 double overtime loss played here and the 20-12 debacle at the state tournament, both against Fenwick, seemed to prove this. In both contests, Fenwick got the breaks; more importantly, they were able to capitalize on them.

The four years of practice, practice, and still more practice seemed to go all for naught as the skills of first team all-stars Mike O'Connell, Paul Eckenroad, and Pat Farrelly could not pull the tankmen all the way to the top. All the other men that made the Huskie tankmen great this season, like second team all-state selections Jim Farrelly, Ken Kiolbasa, and Charlie Groen, who received an honorable mention, could not haul them upon the ultimate pedestal this season.

The team was disappointed. Many of the brightest stars of the season felt they had let down the school and themselves. Where it counted most, however, they were second to none.

In the eyes of their fans, they were number one.

Work Pays Off For Gymnasts

Coach Clarke Shultes attributes his gymnastic teams' success this year to work, work not only of the gymnasts but also of the gymnastic flashers and managers who supported the team through the course of the season.

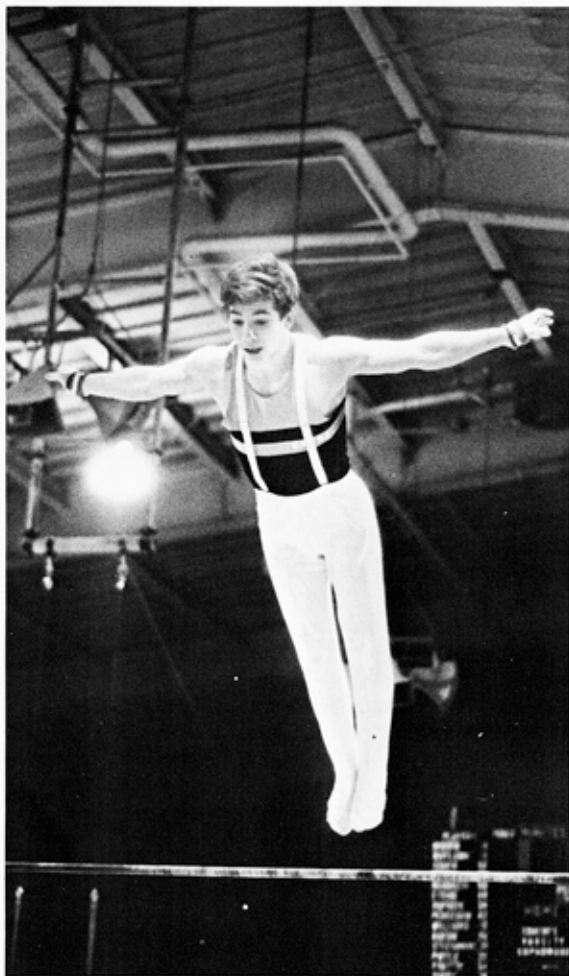

The gymnasts work has led them to top respectability in the state. They have an undefeated dual meet record, and they are the only team to score over 150 points twice during the regular season. To end the regular season they won the West Suburban Conference crown.

The work of seven particular boys, according to Coach Shultes, is the "key" to their competitive program. He says their program is only as strong as the number of dedicated boys who stay with it through their senior year. According to him these have achieved much, both on and off the competitive floor, during their four year tenure at Oak Park River Forest High School and have every right to be proud of it. According to Shultes OPRFHS will miss these seven: Troy Chovan, Harold Dardick, Martin Gonzalez, Dan Harder, Mark Koch, Bruce Mason, and John O'Toole. He is hoping to see returning juniors Andy Allen, Bruce Barclay, Tom Dalton, Matt Dooley, Gabe Kind, Paul Patush, Tom Riley, Andy Van Pelt, and Paul Vignola to carry on the working and winning tradition set for them.

Badminton!!

Besides the addition of new uniforms, the Badminton Team saw other changes this year. An important addition was a ladder on which the members of the team were charted. During practices, the team members challenged one another and moved up or down on the ladder depending upon their victories or losses. The ladder played a significant part as it decided which members of the team would compete in upcoming meets.

Practices also consisted of drills which were stressed more this year than in previous years, to build up the team's endurance.

Huskie B-Ball Team Rebuilds

It was a young and inexperienced team that coach Tom Meyer put out on the court in the 1976-'77 basketball campaign. The team's inexperience showed clearly in the early going as the Huskies were 2-9 at Christmas time. The 2-9 record was not as bad as it seemed for the Huskies had lost most of their games by very small margins. After Christmas, the team played .500 ball the rest of the season. A highlight of the season was, after losing to Proviso East and West, the Huskies proceeded to win the next four out of five games and moved up considerably in the West Suburban Conference standings. The last regular season home game was against Hinsdale Central whom the Huskies beat 68-55.

Senior guard Rod Underwood was the only senior in the starting lineup. Underwood was named All-Conference. Junior Bill Kincanon received honorable mention. Juniors Mark Loftus and Mike Dickens and sophomore center Paul Sauer finished out the starting five. The team also received very fine play from their sixth man Junior Williams and their seventh man Tom Newberry. Coach Meyer was pleased with the team's performance this year and also noted that the Huskies finished behind three of the top rated teams in the state.

With most of the team returning next year and with some fine sophomore players coming up to varsity level, it will surely be another exciting season for the basketball team and the chances of the league crown should not be dim.

Volleyball, A Sport for the Young

"They're a young team," said Miss Abbinanti, coach of the Varsity Volleyball team, as she commented on this year's team. She said that the team was good because of the youth they have but that some of the players were still experienced. This year's varsity team had only one starting senior on it, which is unusual. The team also had many underclassmen in the starting lineup. Abbinanti said that a strength of the team was their "coachability." This factor contributed to the team's record and is reflected in their performance in competition.

Two girls on the team, Dawn Reig and Patty Walsh, were such outstanding performers that Abbinanti is even more sure that next year will be even better. This confidence, the team's record of 6 and 2, and the fact that the team came in third in the West Suburban Conference has Abbinanti very optimistic about next year.

Kessler First in District, Barnhisel Sixth in State

Unlike most sports, wrestling is one that may be considered either a team or an individual sport. Each wrestler works for the benefit of the team, yet, as Bob Siegel, 185 lb. J.V. wrestler said, "It's not like football or baseball, where you have other guys to back you up. When you're on the mat, you're out there by yourself."

The Varsity wrestling team, coached by Mr. Bob Zimmerman did not have a very good season. The J.V. team, coached by Mr. Gary Olson had a better season. The Sophomore team, jointly coached by Mr. James Brown and Mr. Michael Lonergan won a second place trophy at the Oak Park Sophomore Invitational, and a fifth place at the Reavis Invitational. The Freshman team, also coached by Mr. Brown and Lonergan, had a season record of 8-6.

But the individuals on the teams had much better seasons. Some of the better freshman wrestlers were Marc Hayashi, with a season record of 14-3, Ed Ordenez 9-3, Phil Burnier 10-4, Ray Siegel 10-4-1, and John McNerney 8-5. The sophomores had many good individual wrestlers on the team. A few were Steve Matticks, who had a season record of 12-3. Steve closed up the season by pinning his opponents in his last eight matches, for a total of 12 pins, Pete Brown, with a season record of 11-5, Chip Arends 8-1, and Bill Schuler 8-5.

Outstanding wrestlers on the varsity squad were Bill Barnhisel, with a 19-9 season record, Ted Kessler, and Mike Lossau. Mike Lossau won a third place in the heavyweight class at the District meets held at Morton East. Ted Kessler won a first place at the District meets at the 112 lb. weight class, and Bill Barnhisel won second place in the 145 lb. weight class at both the District and Sectional meets, and was the only member of the team to proceed to the State meets.

The most enjoyable part of participating in any sport though, is the feeling an athlete gets from winning. How does it feel to win a wrestling match?

Larry Bolen: "Winning makes all the work worthwhile."

Bill Barnhisel, Ray Siegel: "I feel satisfied."

Larry Maher: "I feel like I have finally conquered the unconquerable."

Chip Arends: "It's a great feeling. After I win a match I feel like I could take on anybody."

Bill Schuler: "I feel relieved."

Alex Koch: "I feel like I've accomplished something for myself and the team, but mostly myself."

Rob Siegel: "I feel excellent."

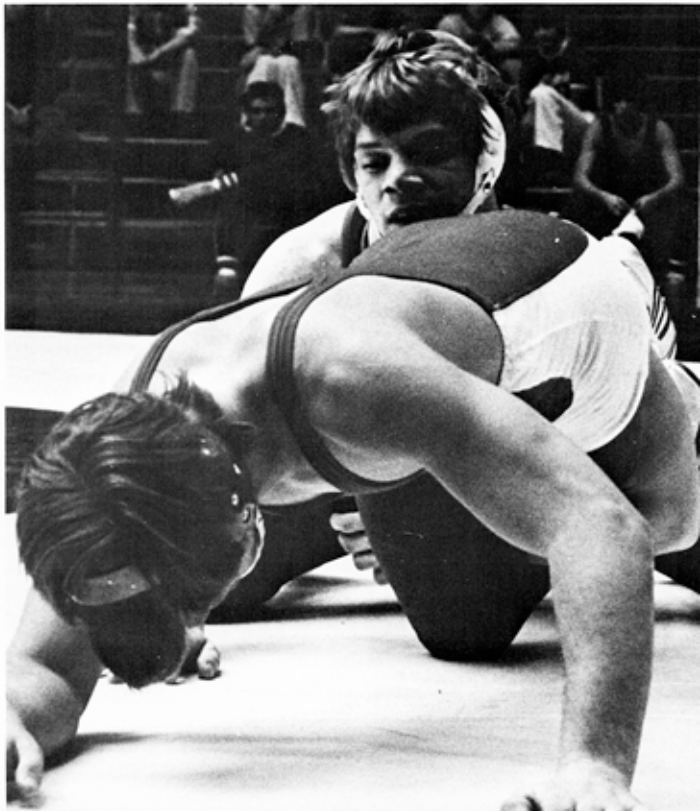

John McNerney: "I feel like a Big Mac."

Marc Hayashi: "I feel like a little buckaroo!"

WSC Champs

Last year they had to be content with a second place finish, this year they wouldn't. Unsatisfied with ranking second behind York, the Girls Gymnastics Team came back this year to defeat the defending Champions. The Huskies then went on to capture the number one spot in the West Suburban Conference.

The first place finish for the Huskies was a combined effort of the Varsity and Junior Varsity members under coaches Ms. Kathi Kyrias and Ms. Diana Ivas.

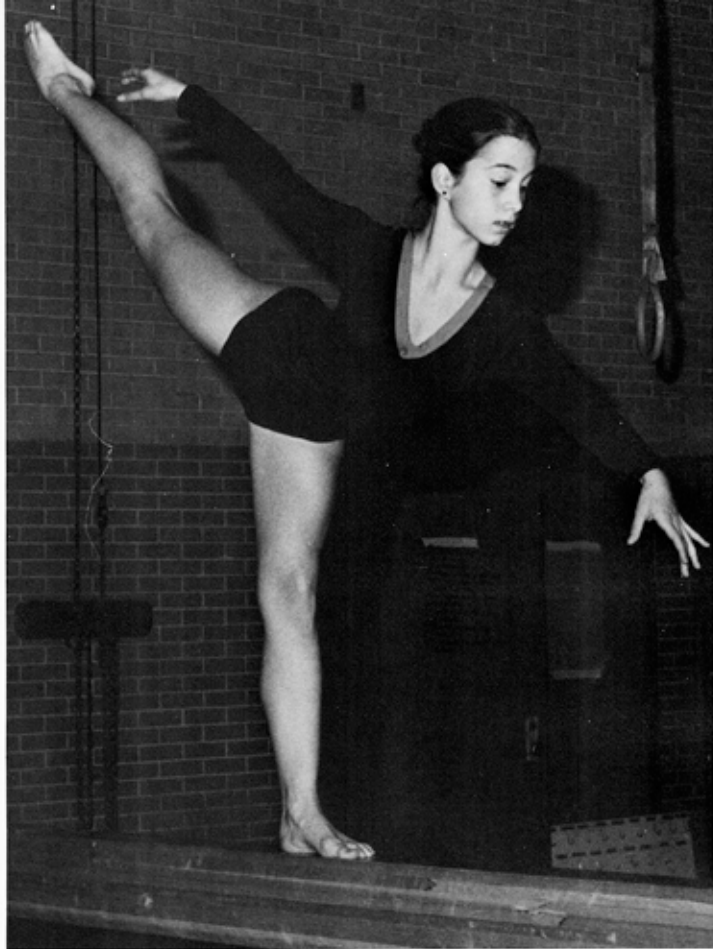

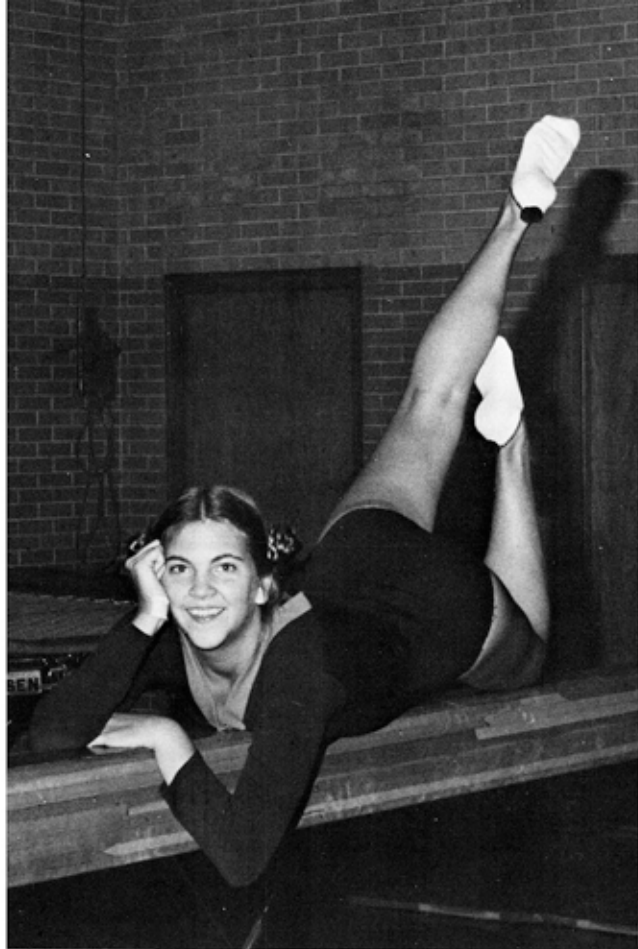

Some outstanding members of the team were: Sue Gullo, Jill Skintges, and Margaret Murphy. Gullo, a four year veteran of the team, never failed to place first or second in every meet. Skintges took first place on the balance beam in the Conference Meet. Murphy, on the beam, and Gullo, on the unevens, both qualified for the State Tournament held February 11.

37 Join B'ball

The Girls' Basketball team, consisting of 37 members, with only one senior, was rebuilding this year. The very young team was learning from scratch, especially the five new freshmen. At the beginning of the season, Coach Mary K. Brown stated, "From what I have seen so far, it looks like we will have the best rebounding team ever."

The girls are competing in a tough West Suburban Conference, but with the help of the leading scorer, Nancy Murphy, the team manages to hold its own. Miss Brown encourages the girls to build up their speed more each game.

Starting player, Peggy Houren feels that part of the team's success is based on their unity and encouragement towards one another.

Under the coaching of Ms. Sandy Abbinanti, the JV team is working for a successful season next year.

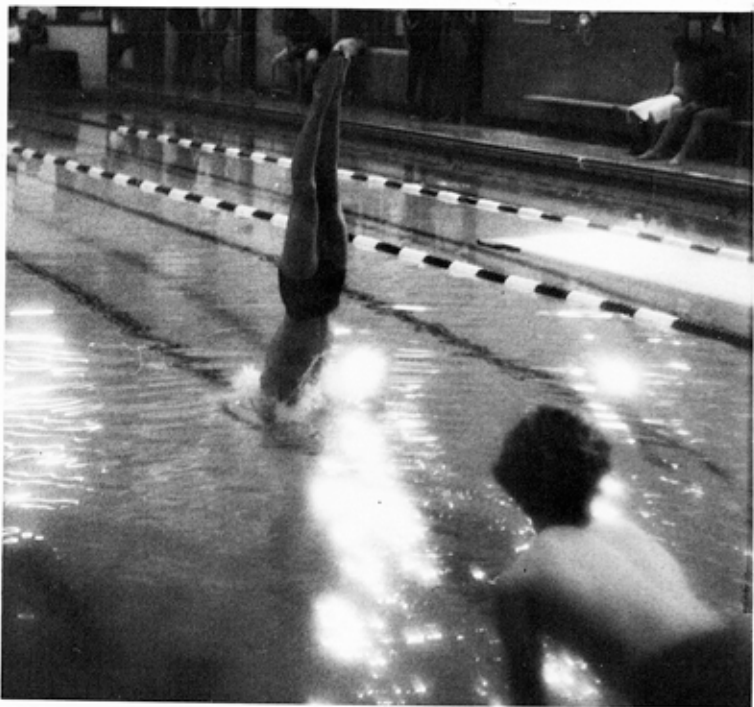

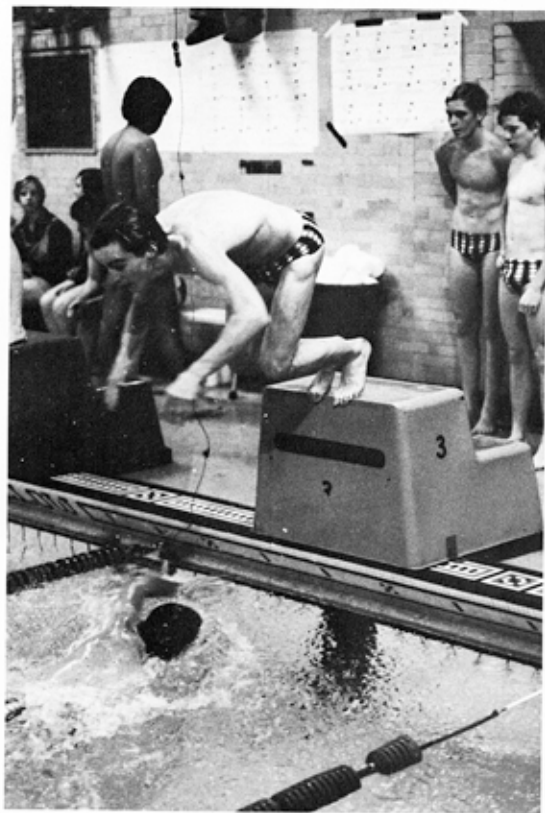

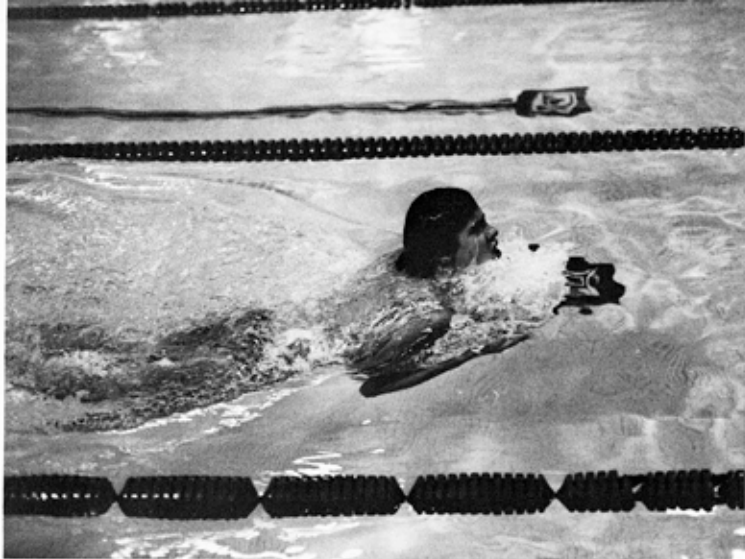

Six Go to State, Season Successful

From taking second in the district meet to sending six men downstate, everything came up roses for the swim squad this year.

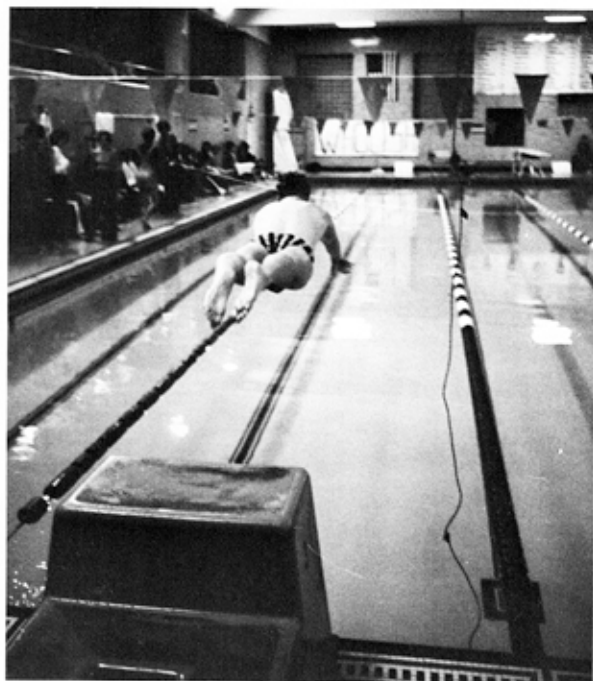

"We had a successful season, no complaints," said Paul Eckenroad, the most successful of the swimmers. Paul went downstate along with Pat and Jim Farrelly, Charlie Groen, and divers Joe Kahovec and Brian Scotty.

The success of the swim season softened the sting of the disappointing Waterpolo season, and the same people who were disenchanted became elated as the season rolled along almost perfectly.

Half of this year's downstate group will be going on to college; Paul Eckenroad and the Farrellys will be swimming under different colors next year. But Charlie Groen, Brian Scotty and Joe Kahovec will all be back, striving once again for swimming excellence under the orange and blue.

Cheerleaders

Hard work and a great amount of time was put in by the Varsity and Sophomore Cheerleaders in preparation of the routines they performed at both the Huskie football and basketball home and away games. Captain of the Varsity Squad was Nancy Way. The Varsity Cheerleaders were sponsored by Miss Marie Jezik. Miss Wendy Feeney, new to OPRFHS this year, sponsored the Sophomore Cheerleaders.

The Pom Pon Squad, sponsored by Ms. Louis Goldstein, hosted a clinic here November 20, with Oak Park placing 5th out of 18 participating schools. This was the first time Oak Park had hosted the clinic. The Pom Pon Squad took 5th place with their originality.

Practices for the Squad were held before school until the end of first period. The conclusion of the football and basketball seasons though, did not mean the end of practices as the squad often practiced through the summer to prepare for the season ahead.

The Sophomore and Varsity Soccer Cheerleaders were sponsored by Mrs. Jan Kerr.

Underclass Teams Place in West Suburban Conference

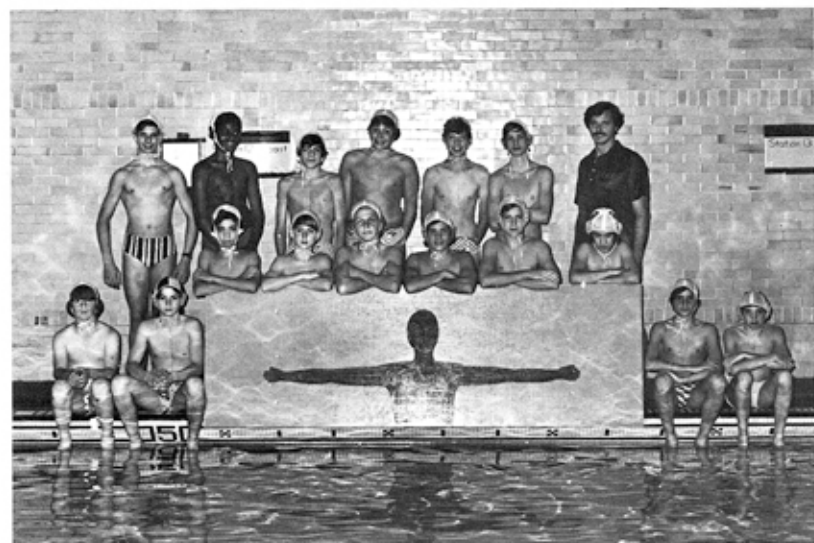

The minor teams of Football, Soccer, Golf, Cross Country, Water Polo, Gymnastics and Swimming had another good season. All of the teams did quite well and thereby displayed their talents. The teams are in the West Suburban Conference.

In football, the sophomores ended up as conference champions along with the Freshman A,B, and C teams. The Soccer teams, both Sophomore and Freshmen, came in as Conference champs, too. The Soph Golf team stroked to a fourth place position along with the Freshman team. A 5th place position was achieved by the Sophomore Cross country team while the Frosh team took 7th place in the conference. Both the Soph and Frosh Water Polo team fought hard and took a 2nd place mark in the conference. In Gymnastics the Soph and Frosh teams were conference champs. The Sophomore and Freshman Swimming teams both took a 2nd place position in the conference.

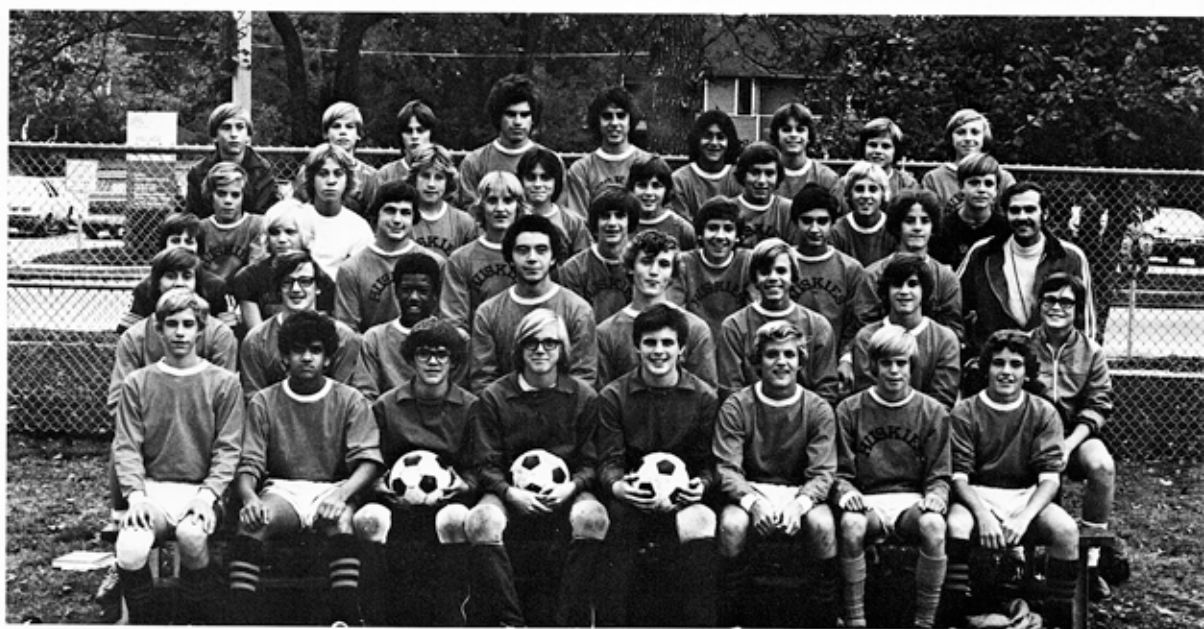

Three of the minor teams, Basketball, Track and Wrestling showed hope for the season.

US

We are the doers, the thinkers, the athletes. We are in the classrooms and libraries, the student center and mall, the cafeterias and offices. We observe, we participate. We give breath to our school.

Seniors. Those self-assured people who look down at the freshmen with mock contempt. The stars of the athletic teams. The best students ... the worst students. The biggest clowns ... the leaders. The essence of high school life.

Seniors are some of the most amazing people in the school. They party often with their friends, but are also often lonely. They are arrogant, yet insecure. They are happy-go-lucky, and at the same time worried.

"What will I do after school? Where will I go? Am I going to college? Will I go to work? I might just take off! California, maybe. How about the army? Gosh! I wish I knew what to do!"

There's mixed emotions about being seniors. Some can't wait to get out, others would like to do it all over again. But everyone will miss their friends. Some will be together but most will go their separate ways.

The senior's life. He's afraid. He's confused. He hates it. But he loves it. He'll miss it. The senior is the essence of high school life.

Seniors Reflect High School Life

Opposite Page, Top: "Jim (Thompson) don't you think the marshmallows are done yet?" "No Liz (Waitr), just a few more seconds, I like mine dark."

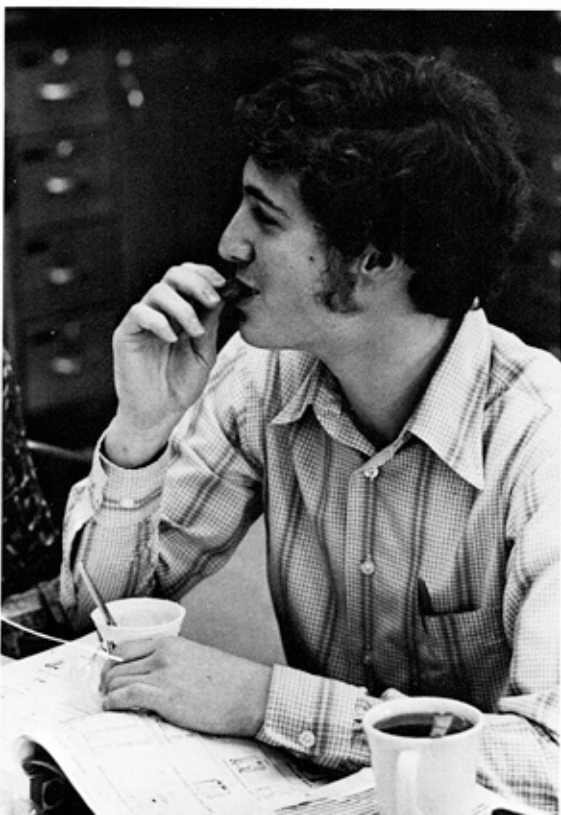

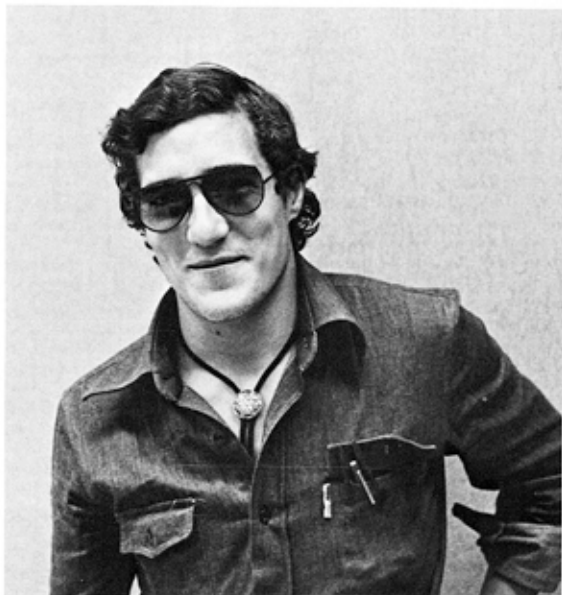

Bottom: Tell us Ms. Kuenster just what does y equal in this equation: $x \cos x/2 - \tan 3x^2 = y$.

The juniors successfully carried out the theme of their float, "Dump the Trojans." A garbage truck, borrowed from a local service, led the horse to its doom. The horse was crushed, as the football team later crushed their opponents.

The friendship exhibited by Julie Walsh, Tracey Reiland, Mary Sheahan, Anne Raleigh, and Mary McDonald is why the juniors succeed.

Co-operation: Key to Junior Class

Back from summer vacation, fresh with new ideas, the juniors began a new school year. One of the first things they did was vote for an idea for their Homecoming float. The Junior Class sponsored a contest for the best float idea. The winning idea, presented by Tim Burnier and Mike Berggren, was, as Peggy Parmley and Evie Storto said, "unusual and unique." The float consisted of a garbage truck and an enormous "Trojan horse," with the theme, "Dump the Trojans." The juniors threw the horse, head first, into the truck before the Varsity football game.

During their sophomore year, the class officers, together with the administration, voted to purchase class rings from local jewelers. Leland C. Fay Jewelers was selected, so 1976 was the first year that juniors could purchase their rings locally. Mr. Perry, the Junior Class sponsor, said that he thought the juniors liked the new way to buy class rings. He said that buying rings became more personal. Instead of having a representative come to the school for one day, the juniors could go to the jewelry store to buy their rings at any time.

Mr. Perry said that the difference he noted between the juniors this year, and other junior classes, was their participation at Junior Class Council meetings. "Mike (Berggren, Junior Class President) would start the meeting, and the rest of the students would add their ideas."

The year climaxed with the Junior and Senior Prom, the event that all of the juniors looked forward to, and before they knew it, the juniors were the seniors.

Super Sophs Stand Out in a Crowd

With a winning football team, a first place homecoming float, and a great deal of school spirit the sophomore class of '76-'77 got off to a roaring start.

"We want to stand out," said president Trudy Hale. This year the sophomores did not intend to get lost in the crowd. With help from class council officers, representatives and, of course, their advisor, Mr. Dan McHugh, the sophomores had a memorable year. Activities ranged from fund raising and a toy drive for Hepzibah Home to just plain fun! Participation and enthusiasm were the key factors to an exciting year.

Top: Julie Stockholm, Trudy Hale, Sally Salerno, Janice Javors, Bess Brackett, Ginny McLaughlan, and Gardi Ipema help trample the Trojans.

Big Sister Kathy Owezaru makes Frosh feel welcome. John Koller, Kevin O'Neil, Ron Storto, Eric Merbitz, Big Sister Kathy Owezaru, and Steve Shaw.

Freshmen: Color Them Green, Lost And Wealthy, Among Other Things.

Freshman (fresh' mən), n., pl.-men. 1. a student in the first year of the course at a university, college, or school. This is a general and impersonal definition of a freshman.

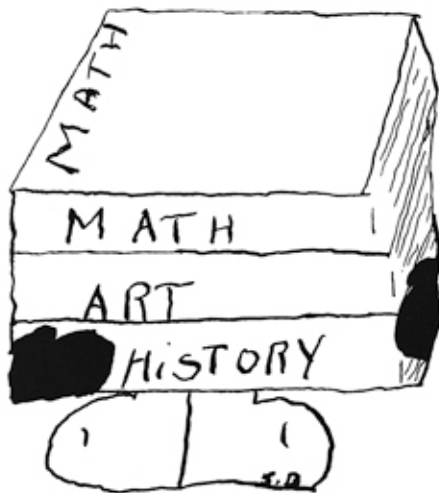

But let's picture a typical freshman at Oak Park River Forest High School. We'd have to color him green, who else would purchase elevator passes or bicycle spaces. There would be a lost look on his face, probably because he is. There is a panic in his demeanor, because he forgot his locker combination and goes bookless to every class, when he can find the class, that is. He is strong because once he does get his locker open, he carries all his books with him, afraid he may forget the combination again. Some freshmen are wealthy, as a result of picking up pennies pitched at them in the Student Center. And they are outstanding in the classroom. At least you can always tell they are freshmen. The upperclassmen are too blasé to raise their hands.

But being a freshman is not all fun. They have the job of becoming acquainted with one another. And if you think this is easy, listen to these facts.

This year, for the last time, the freshmen came from twenty-four different schools, thirteen parochial and private and eleven public junior high schools. Next year there will only be sixteen different schools coming into the high school, thirteen parochial and private and three public junior high schools. Think how easy the freshmen class of 1977 will have it.

Besides being able to open their lockers and find their classes and get acquainted, there were some other highlights for the frosh. They had the honor of winning the award for the best decorated hall during Homecoming Spirit Week. Swimming, volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, and watching cartoons were some activities of Frosh Fun Nite. Match Mate Munch, whose theme was "Munch with the Mad Hatter," gave the girls an opportunity to socialize with the upperclassmen. And there is so much more to look forward to: Sophomore (sof ə mōr') n. 1. a student in his second year at a high school, college, or university.

Essence of OPRF as Viewed by Administrators

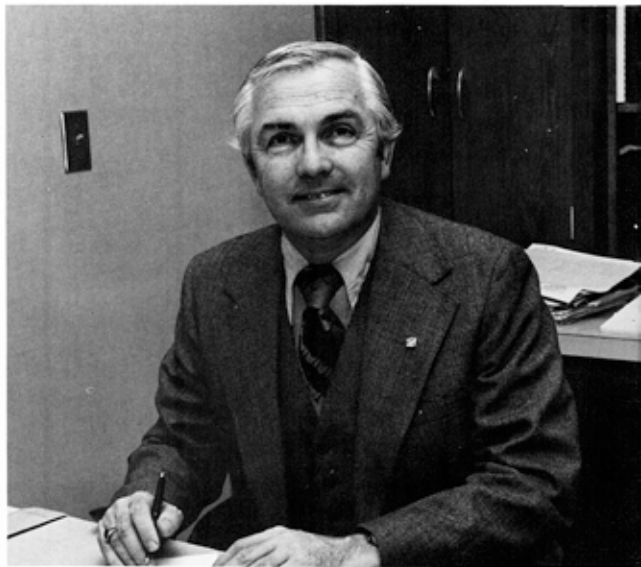

Dr. J. Swanson - Superintendent: "Our newly adopted Philosophy Statement indicates that the center of the school's learning process is 'the interaction between teacher and student ... in all aspects of the school program.' In the mutual insight, excitement, inspiration, satisfaction, and challenge resulting from this interpersonal relationship is to be found the essence of our school."

Mr. R. Ebel - Assistant to the Superintendent: "The essence of this, or any, school is the communities that it serves. This school is great because of the commitment of these communities to educational excellence as manifested by the superior facilities, student body, and staff. OPRFHS is a reflection of Oak Park and River Forest in total."

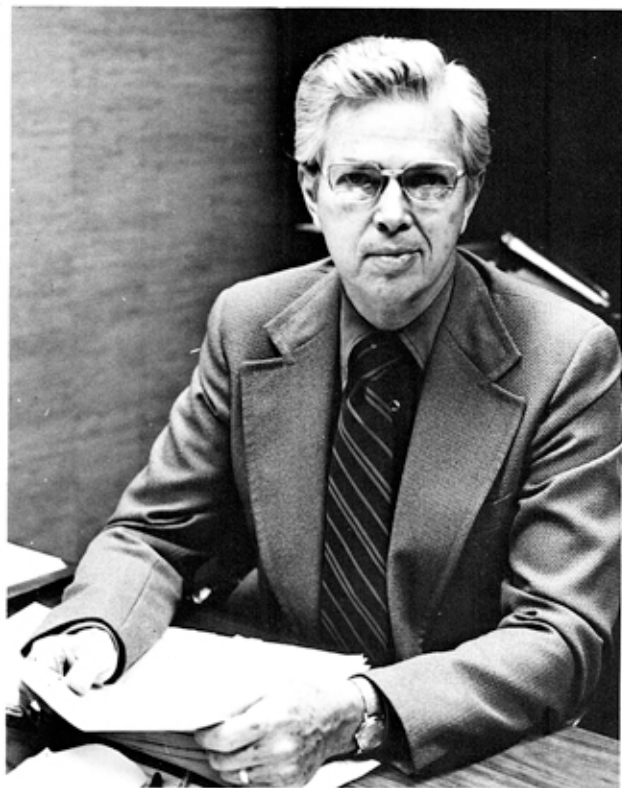

Mr. J. Edwards - Business Manager: "I believe that providing an excellent educational environment in which our students may establish positive meanings for their lives and achieve adaptability to successfully meet inevitable changes is the real mission of this high school."

Dr. R. Botthof - Principal: "The school is not the building. Rather, the heart is the many individuals who form the school family. The teachers, deans, and parents share a common bond which is their interest in the quest of each student who struggles to understand self, to develop God-given talents, and to prepare for life's future responsibilities."

Mr. E. Volkland - Director of Personnel: "Oak Park and River Forest High School is a superb example of an institution which truly reflects the community. Education is possibly the paramount preoccupation of the patrons in these villages and the fundamental reason for many of them moving here and staying here."

Mr. R. Jensen - Director of Programming: "Much of the essence of this high school can be found in the tremendous variety which exists here. We in the school family are exposed to many different cultures and viewpoints as we contribute to and take from the school's program. Our willingness and ability to learn about, and have respect for, these bits of individualism is much to our advantage."

Mr. T. Lynch - President of Board of Education: "The essential ingredient at this school is quality which can be seen in the condition of our facilities; in the dedication and skill of our faculty and staff; in the commitment to excellence by our administration and Board; and in the continuing support of the citizens of our community."

School Board, Seated: Mrs. Ruth Luthringer, Mr. Thomas Lynch - President, Mrs. Nancy Waichler. Standing: Mr. Jerry Mackey, Mr. Harold Rohlfing, Mr. Arthur Replogle - Secretary, Mr. Oscar Ice.

Gummerson and Wehrli Retire after Many Years

"Some teachers should retire after one year, but teachers like Mr. Gummerson should not retire at all!"

Such was one faculty member's response to the retirement of Mr. Roy Gummerson who is leaving after 22 years.

In the course of his career, Gummerson has taught nearly every business course, and has coached a majority of the sports here. His main sport has been Cross Country. Gummerson's involvement and dedication to the school is shown by the nicknames of "Mr. Spirit" and "Mr. Track" that are often used to describe him.

Gummerson is well-known for his Track coaching and as one teacher said, "If you have a question about anything that concerns Track, all you have to do is ask Roy Gummerson."

The only accomplishment Gummerson would mention concerning the recognitions he has received, is the position he holds as Chairman of the Illinois High School Track and Field Advisory Committee. Pushing aside all other accomplishments, Gummerson says, "It's the student's book." He gives little credit to his own achievements and just says, "I love teaching and I love kids."

At the Fall Sports Awards Night held in November, the students showed what their opinion of Gummerson was, as they rose in a standing ovation, when he stepped up to the platform to speak.

Since 1941, Mr. Robert Wehrli has taught Boys' Physical Education. Wehrli's teaching was interrupted in 1942, when he left for service in the Navy. When commenting on his naval service, Wehrli said that, "I'm very proud of my naval experience and have received four decorations, the highest of which was a Silver Star for gallantry in action."

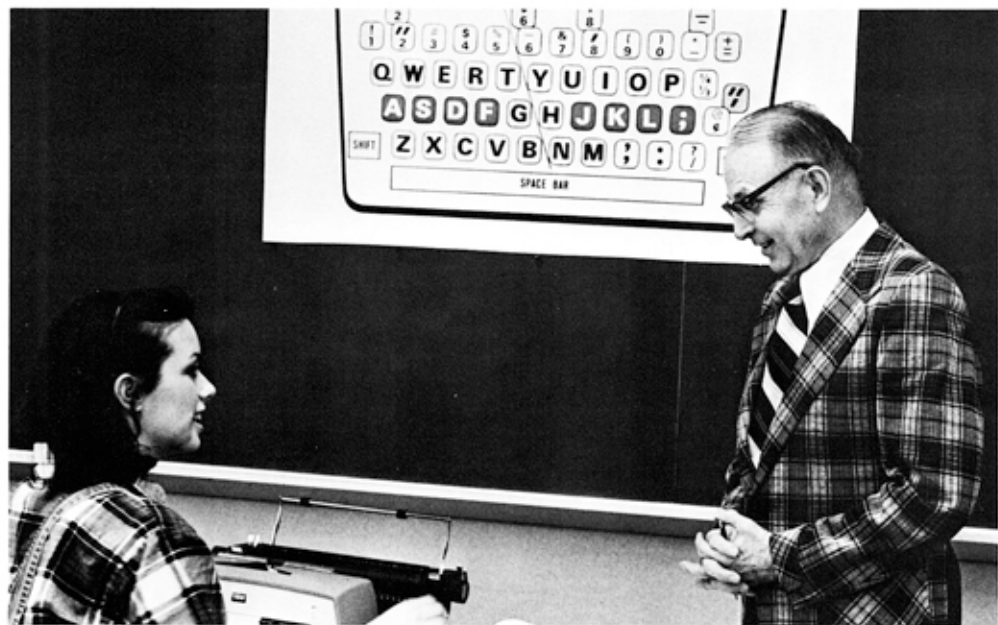

While at OPRFHS, Wehrli has put in a great amount of time coaching. A majority of his time has been spent coaching football and golf. "I've put in over 30 years of coaching football and over 20 years of coaching golf."

In the period of time he has been at Oak Park, Wehrli has seen many changes take place in the Boys' Physical Education Department. One of the most significant changes has been the addition of the Adaptive P.E. program which began in 1971. Wehrli suggested the program to the Board of Education and fought for its funding. The Adaptive P.E. is now a nationally known program. Among his other accomplishments, Wehrli began the Co-ed ice-skating program and has been head of the Physical Education Department for the last 7 years.

Mr. Gummerson gets down to serious business. Mr. Gummerson brightens up his bookkeeping class. In recent years being Chairman of Boys' PE has kept Mr. Wehrli at his desk for long hours.

Mr. Gummerson helps out a student in his typing class.
 Mr. Gummerson stresses a point during his bookkeeping class.
 Mr. Wehrli displays one of the trophies received during his years at OPRFHS.
 Mr. Wehrli confronts Mrs. Wehrli with one of his problems.

Teachers Excel

Teachers, club sponsors, and athletic coaches. The faculty of Oak Park High School puts in extra hours every day for the benefit of the students, and many have been highly commended for it. This year alone:

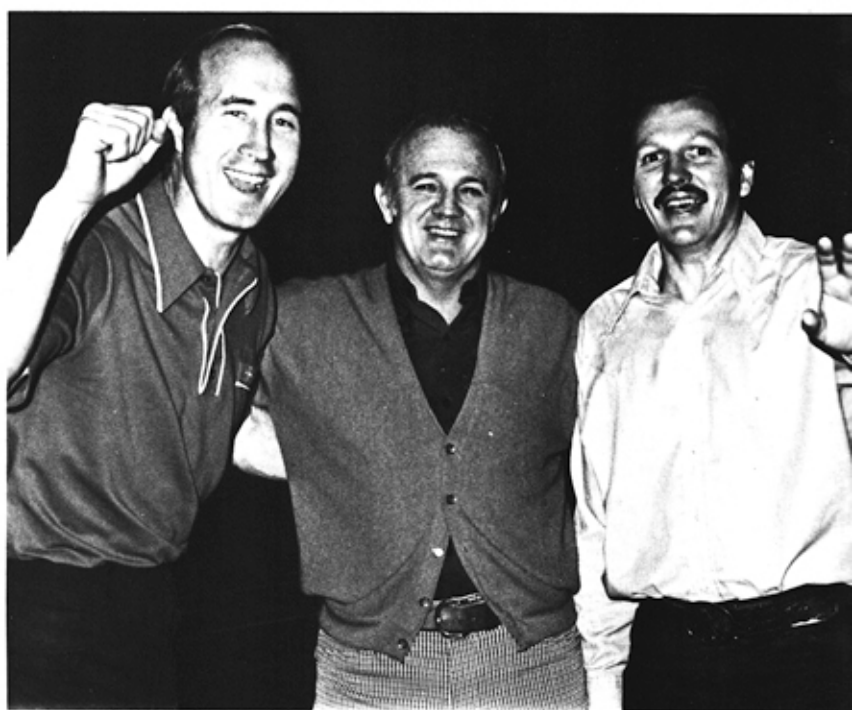

Coach Roy Gummerson was named "Honorary Meet Director" at the Mattoon Invitational, the largest cross country meet in the Midwest.

Coach Tom Meyer was selected by the United Press International Board of Coaches to rank the AA IHSA boys' basketball teams.

Mr. Joe Meyer was named to be a recipient of a Distinguished Service Citation by the American Association of Physics Teachers, an honor normally awarded to college teachers. Mr. Meyer is one of few high school teachers to receive this recognition.

Mr. Joe Pirrello of the Business Department had three articles on metrics in business and marketing published in "Think Metric In Business Education."

The recognition that the faculty has received, proves that they are one of "Those things that are best."
